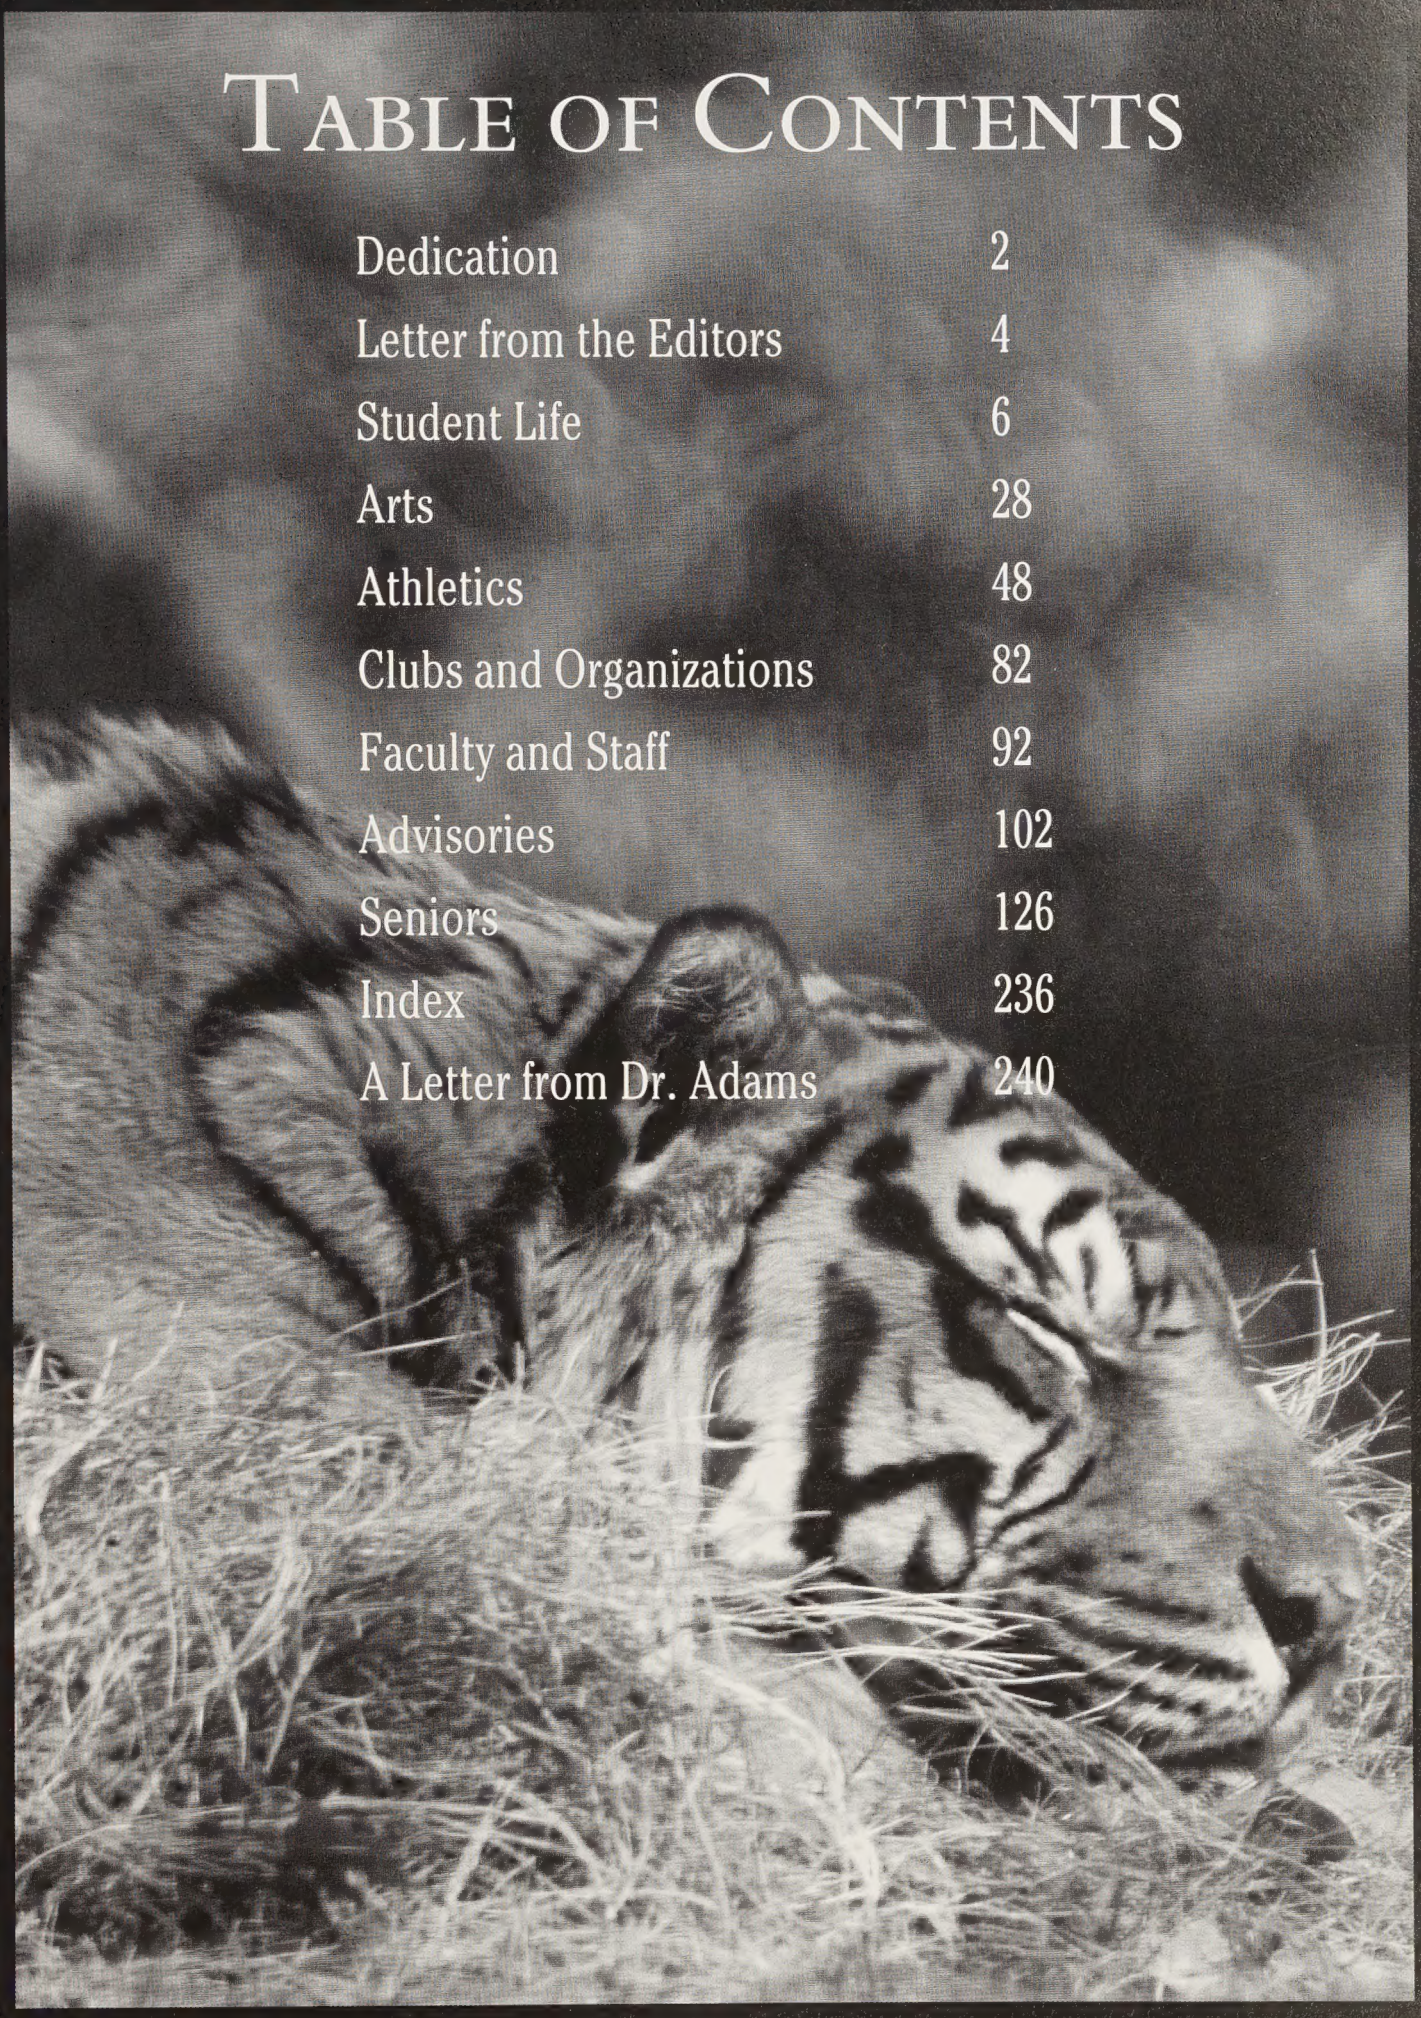
A Letter from Dr. Adams	240



We dedicate this book to you, Dr. Al Adams

Al Adams is a forthcoming man who carries himself with magnanimity and humility. His personality leaves all those who talk with him astounded by the depth of connection they feel in even the most commonplace of hallway interactions.

"Wow," says the now-smiling student. "I wonder why Dr. Adams chose to talk to me just now?" It's simply because that's the type of man he is. When you look him in the eye, you see a man who unequivocally cares for your well-being – a man who earnestly seeks your thoughts and opinions – a man who knows no limits to the depth of a good relationship, nor to the breadth of folk with whom he may engage.

Al Adams is a man who stays grounded in the principles by which he lives. His confidence stems from a deeper knowledge of not just what or how he does something, but why he does it. His intentions stay rooted in his genuine character. Thus, his convictions inspire those simply in his presence to find a level of wholeness he exudes on the daily – a feeling of appreciation and awareness for all the good in his life, and a sense of how he can best return the favor to his surroundings.

Al Adams does not just take time to branch out – he makes time for it. In-between meetings, without fail, he sets aside chunks of time to stay connected with those who seek his consult. Ben Faustine, a senior in the class of 2011, sought his wisdom on Colorado College (his sons' school) during the fall application season – a time that also happened to be the height of his farewell tour. Ben asked for ten minutes of Al's time. Considering the circumstances of his Head of School schedule, this seemed to be a difficult prospect.

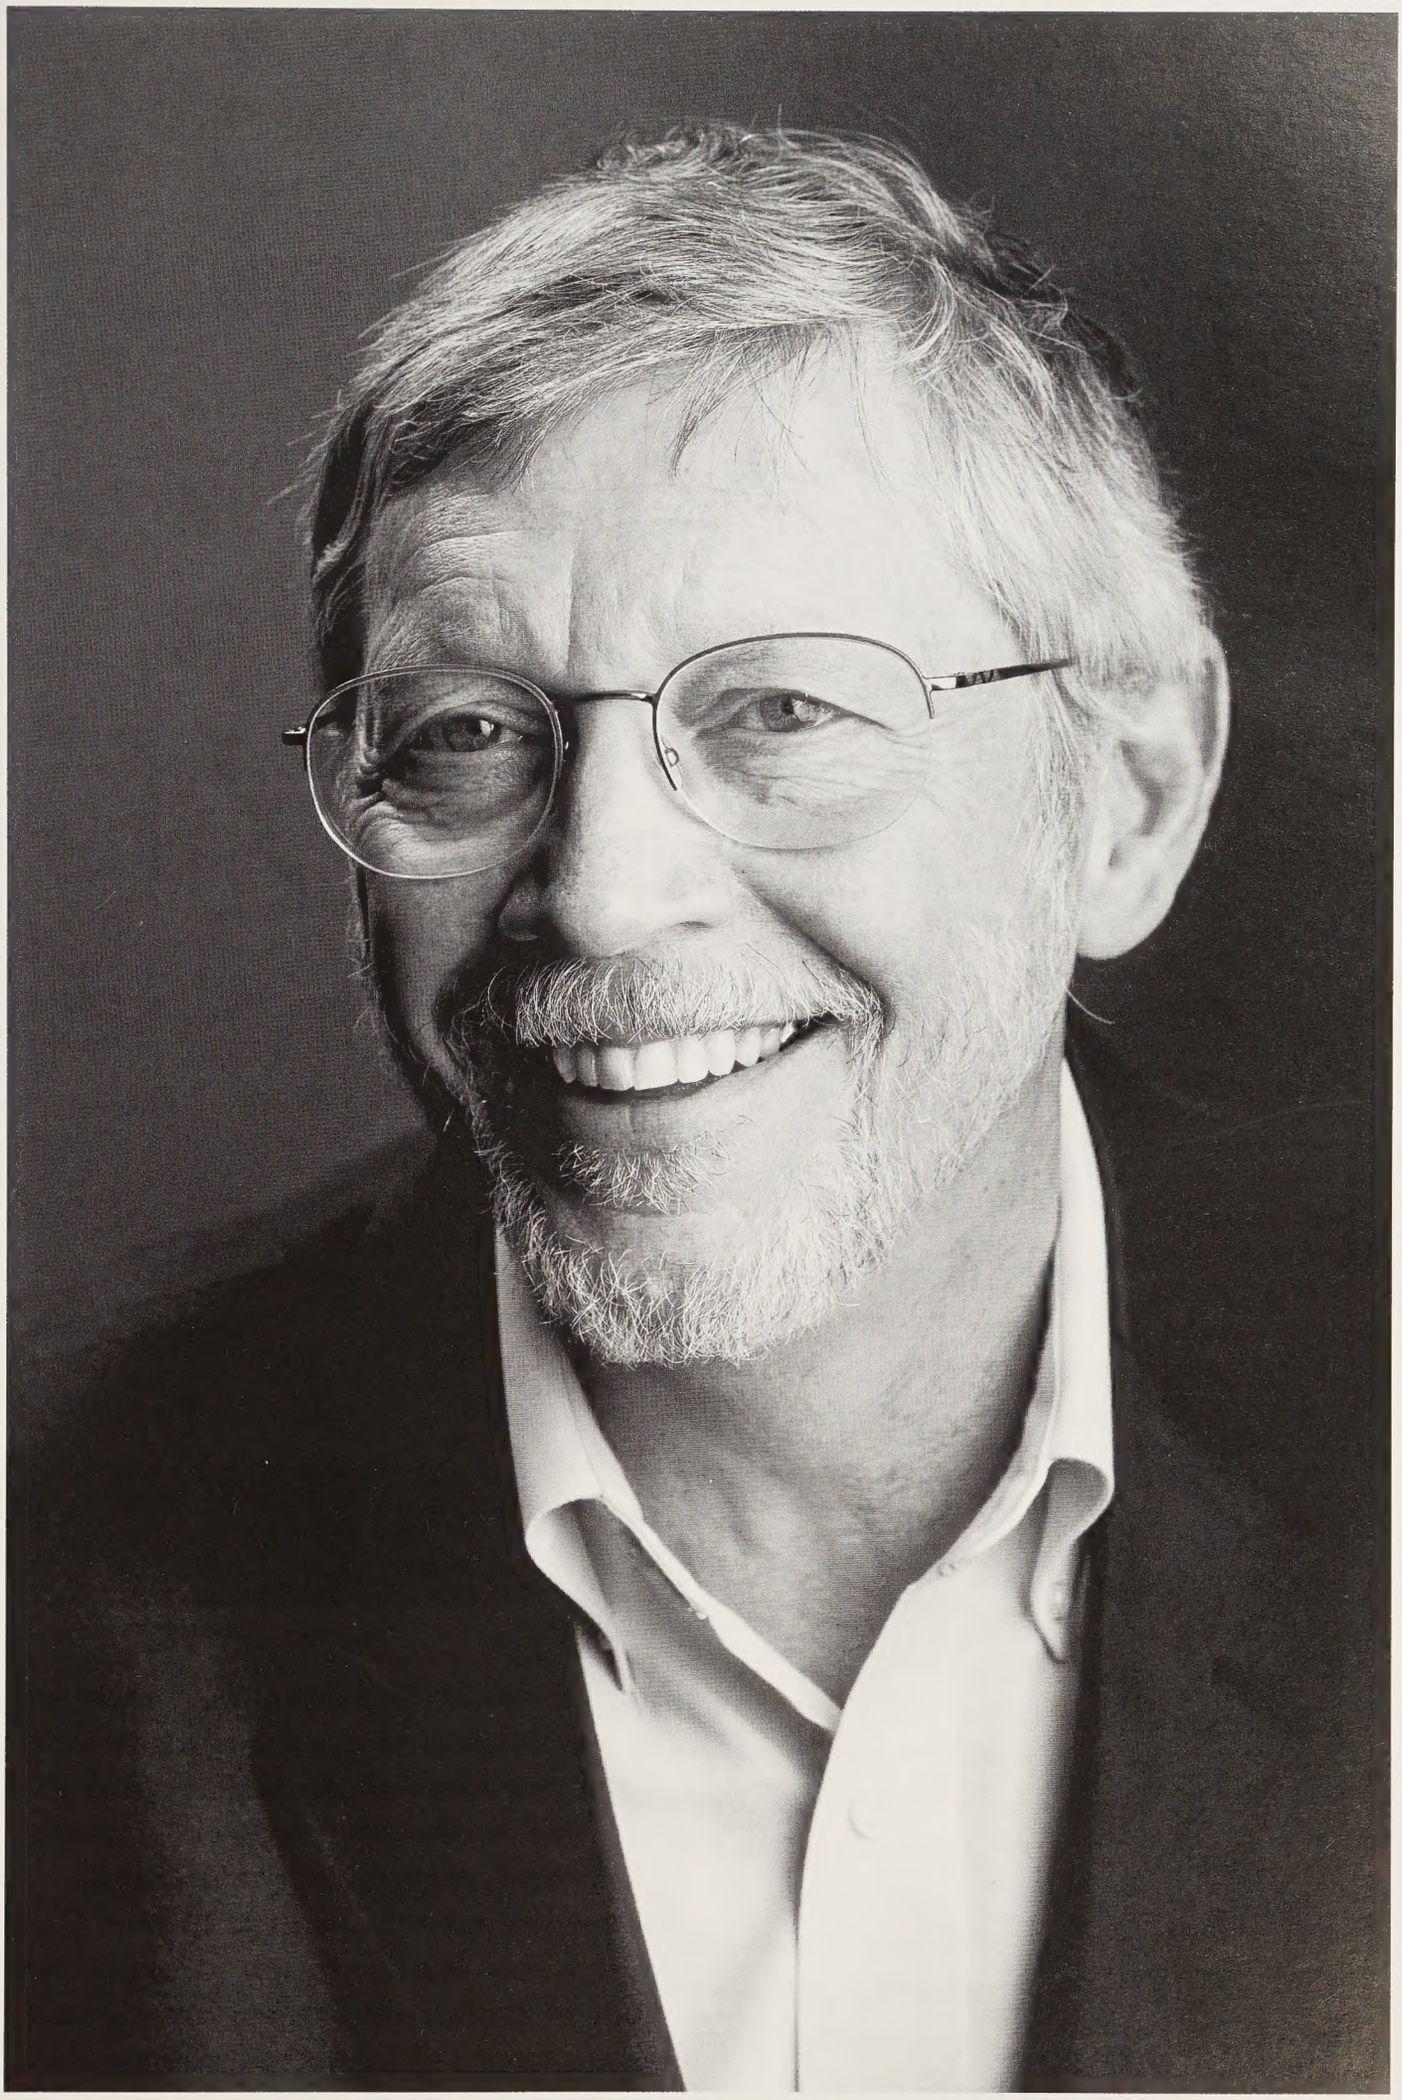
Al would not let time be an issue; they would have their meeting to discuss his application. He kept the focus on Ben; he did so for over a half hour. Ben walked out of there feeling indebted to him for not just his accommodating attitude, but also his offer to write a letter of recommendation. In reflection, the words 'understanding' and 'selfless' come to Faustine's mind. Fellow senior Kayla Abe answered similarly in her retrospect on her own experience with Al in the college process, but underscored her statement with the simplistic declaration that Al, in her eyes, is "the best man I know."

Despite a workload which requires him to direct his focus outwards from the school, Al Adam's heart remains internalized in the atmosphere of Lick. Once a man who visited each class at Lick once a quarter, Dr. Adams has had to sacrifice his more intimate connections with the school's daily operation for a mission which continues to extend the pedagogy of Lick to the rest of America – the philosophy of Private School with Public Purpose. In the past half-decade or so, Al Adams made a legacy for Lick in the national sphere and, in turn, made one for himself. This extension of his self beyond the campus has many students mystified these days by just who he is; yet he is the same man who started this journey – just wiser and more whole in his experience.

Al Adams is a pastoral figure amongst his peers. He is a man who knows how to reach the hearts of the masses, one individual at a time. A seasoned man of the pen and the podium, Al knows exactly the right word for the circumstance. His empathy gives him insight into situations many of us can only intuit in our senses. He understands what we feel, can vocalize it with eloquence and, in the process, leave us feeling confident that we have a true spiritual leader.

If one hones all this verbiage into one epithet for our beloved headmaster, he or she will ultimately find that the essence and weight of Al's gravitas comes from the fact that Al Adams unflaggingly helps the people around him above and beyond what is required – and he does so with a smile.

For these reasons, we dedicate this year's book to you, Al, for simply being the best man you can be – for always being there for us – for always showing up. May you and your family carry on in life with the same grace you have shown us thus far. May your time, talent and treasure continue to serve all whom surround you well in your life after Lick-Wilmerding.



A Note from the Editors . . .

Hello All —

A new year - a new yearbook. What's new? Everything. New adviser - new printers - new staffers - new design direction - and, most pronouncedly, the new club designation for yearbook. Indeed, looking back upon this task from the inside out reveals a series of high moments and shortcomings only those affiliated with yearbook staffs themselves could truly understand. At points you come to realize you have to be crazy to take on this job; and when you come to accept this, you realize you must embrace your madness to survive.

We do this job with pleasure, however, with high hopes that the end-product can earn a proud place not just on our shelves, but yours as well. A yearbook with some elegance, a story inside and a distinguished edge - yes - this is the goal, and we feel confident to have met it in one way or another with this year's motif. The skeptic, however, may ask at this place in time, What makes this book's design so special?

To start, this book's aesthetic continues a progression seen in the past two years towards achieving a clean and minimalist design in our product. Why? Simple - less clutter - a greater emphasis on the memories, the things that matter. We started this year focusing on the meat of the book - the memories - and, with content at the forefront of our rationale, began addressing the challenges we faced with this year's layout and general production.

Most definitely you will notice a general lack of color in the photos. We are one of the few schools left who elect for black and white. We have, in fact, begged it stay this way. We do this not merely for the fact that it looks retro and antiquated, trendy and Polaroided. No. We do this because two tones are simpler than a spectrum - it allows the memories to variegate our pages rather than the hue.

Furthermore - text. It has found a place in these enclosed pages. Yes, it may be true a picture contains a thousand words; yet we reject this axiom for this year's book. When you look back upon this bound stack of paper years from now, this book will still give you all that a quality photo has to offer. Next to that photo, however, will be an immortalized voice telling its story - its moment in history. In other words, captions - but they are more than that.

Now, to give a few words on the book's cover, we would like to say that, coming from an industrial design powerhouse like Lick, where architectural, artistic, and engineering prowess entwine in eye-opening ways throughout the campus on the daily, we thought it only appropriate to capture its perpetual role in our lives within this yearbook. The cover is an architectural sketch inked by a steady hand of the south entrance of the Fishbowl. In this vein, we hope the cover does justice to the exemplary, design-oriented minds that make up in large part our days here at Lick.

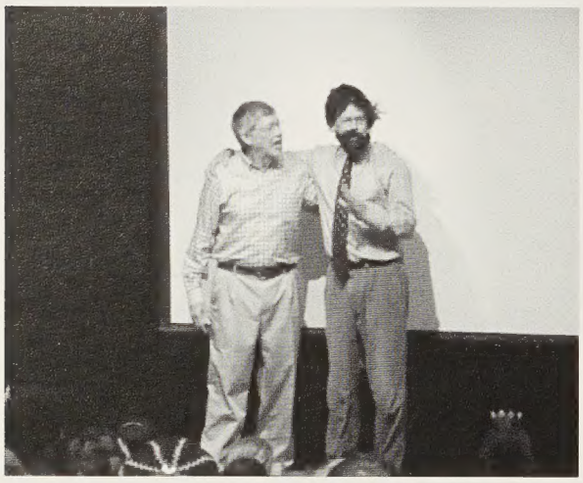
You will also come to realize that the horizon of the cover is the amalgam of single-family homes which defines our Ingleside neighborhood. While our classes may take place within the campus walls, the neighborhood – whether explicitly or indirectly – has taught us innumerable lessons that in some part define us to this day. For this, we justly pay homage to our home surrounding a home away from home.

Before we sign off, we would like to let everyone know none of this could have become a reality without the extreme dedication of our adviser, Mr. Oscar King, as well as the staff who, when it came down to the wire, did all that we could have asked for and more.

All the best,

Erik Battista and Trey Tickner

Autumn



August 23, 2010. . .

The date that started it all. Students and faculty trickle in and find their long lost friends and potential meet some new ones. The novel freshmen appear puzzled and feverish, all at the same time, and the seniors appear...well, they too appear feverish, for this day signifies their last memory of the start of a Lick-Wilmerding school year. The anxious vibes permeate through the hallways and throughout the auditorium as Coach Smith cavorts around the stage, donning an Al Adams beard; as new teachers are introduced; as the school presidents wave an imperious cane in the air; and as students are asked to think of newly formed, all-encompassing questions for the year to forever be remembered as:

Are we connecting?

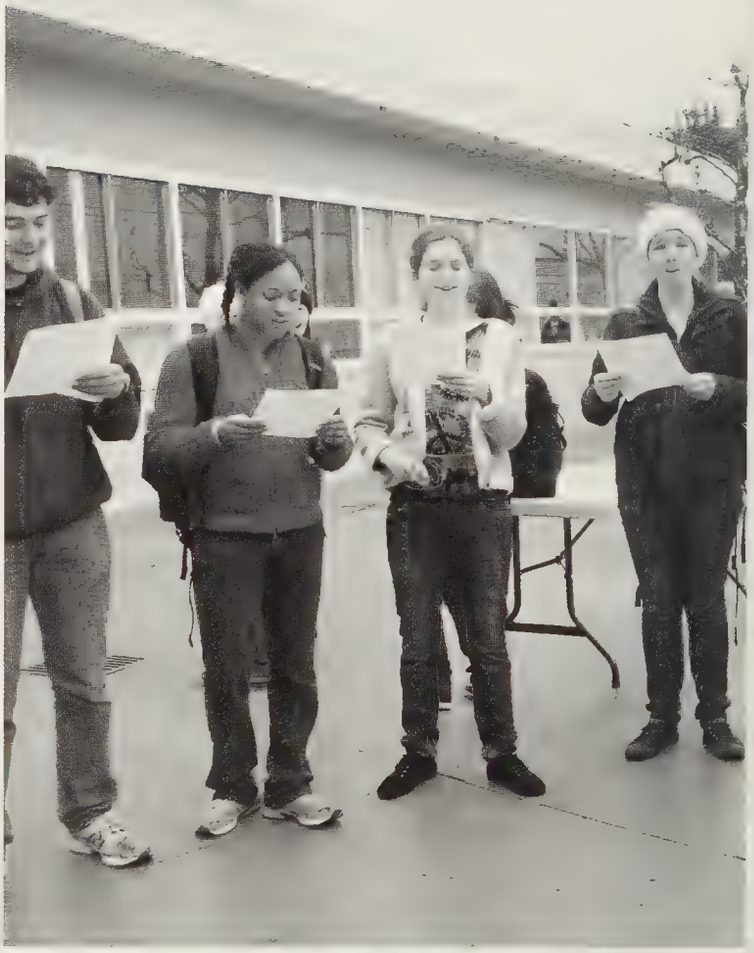
Howth? Yes, Howth Dance– a dance named after the street it resides on. The first dance of the school year is always the biggest and most amusing; this year it managed to attract 700 attendees to its Futuristic themed junction. Also, an added bonus were the Breathalyzers. One can never be too safe.

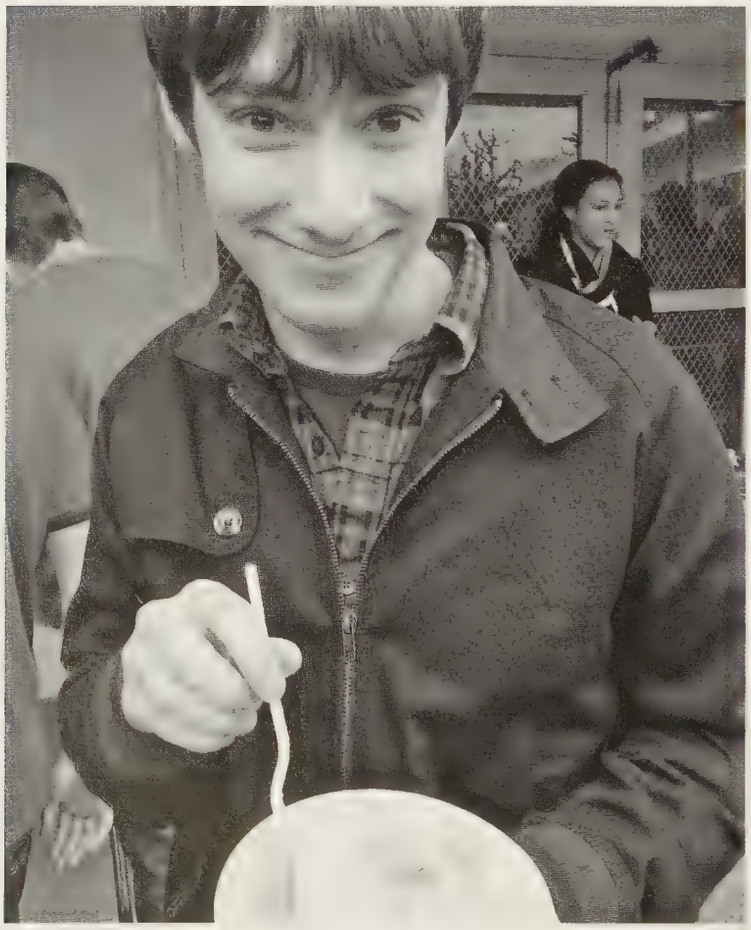
Pumpkin Chucking

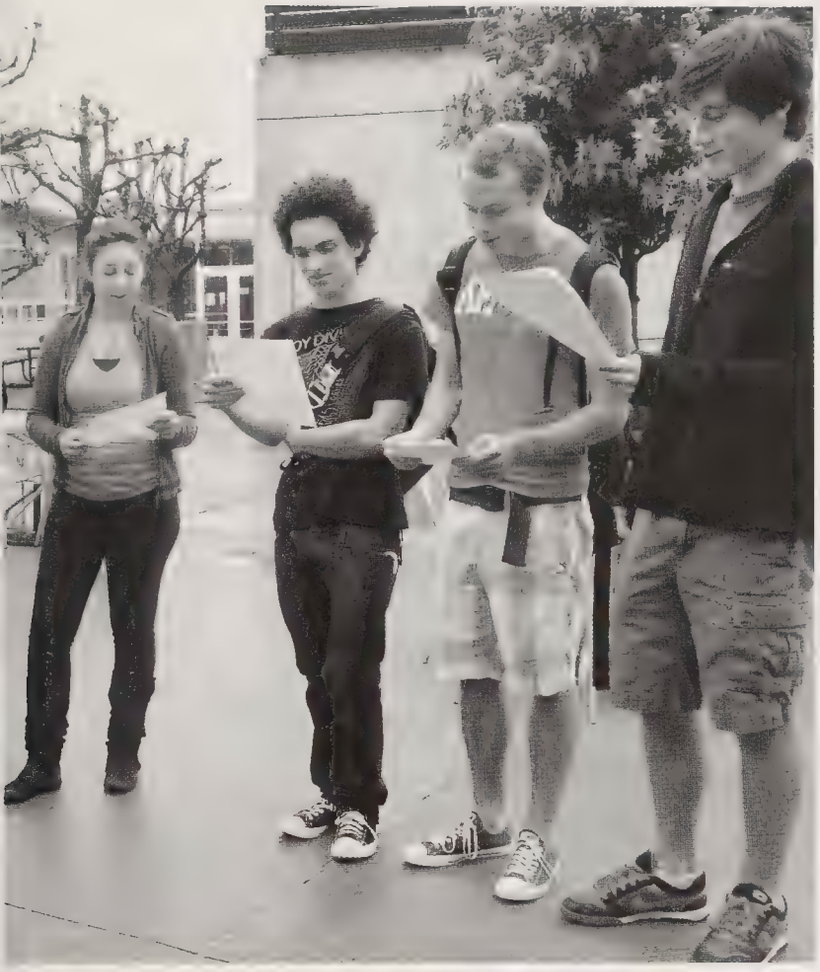
With the extra, decaying pumpkins from the Halloween festivities, AP Physic class built a gourd launching contraption for the pumpkin chunking adventure down at Balboa Park.

Winter Season

Despite the occasional Indian summers, winter months at Lick-Wilmerding is constantly filled with buzzing activities and student-run tizzies. Juniors finish the dreaded PSAT and Seniors finally wrap up those long awaited college applications. Couple this with an atmosphere pertaining to the holiday spirit, the student population is on a precipice of awaiting and beginning a new year.







Last day of school, moments before winter finals—Snow Day is in the midst. Student council and Baking club puts on the annual Snow Day filled with a pancake eating competition, cookie decorating, and an elusive opportunity to sit with the legendary bearded "Phil-Santa-Scott." And the one requirement for snow day—don some snow gear.

Winter Formal

The second dance of the school year. Lick students love the much-needed excuse to bust out their suits and ties, and fancy dresses. This year, the theme was none other than masquerade. The masquerade was a chance for Lick students to dust off their beloved feather masks right alongside their fancy shoes and dance the night away.

Can you guess who's behind the masquerade mask?

On the second floor, students had the opportunity to take quality photobooth mementos. They walked away with their prized snapshots titled with the unforgettable "Lick-Wilderming's Winter Dance."

"Hawaii Five YO!" was the theme for Lick's annual Sock Hop this year. Students would walk into the transformed gymnasium to the sight of a stocked buffet with Hawaiian pizza and other comestibles, an aggressive Limbo contest, and a lip syncing contest that had Hawaiian rapping and a hula demonstration.

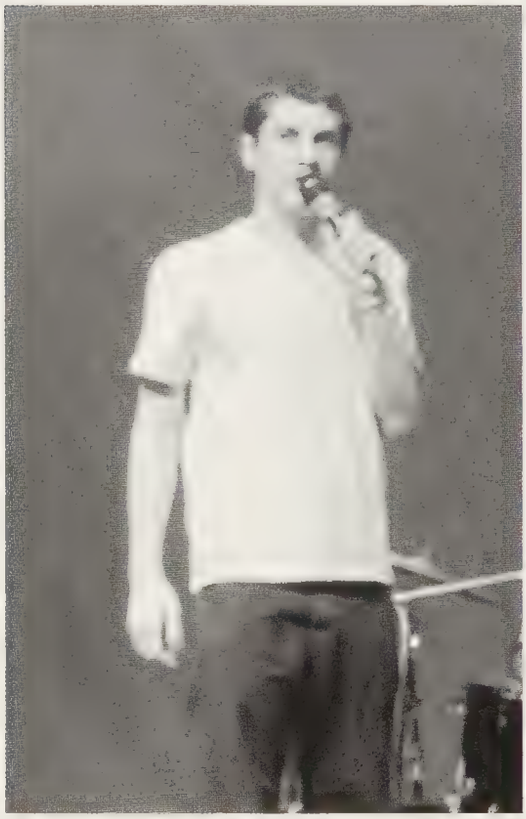
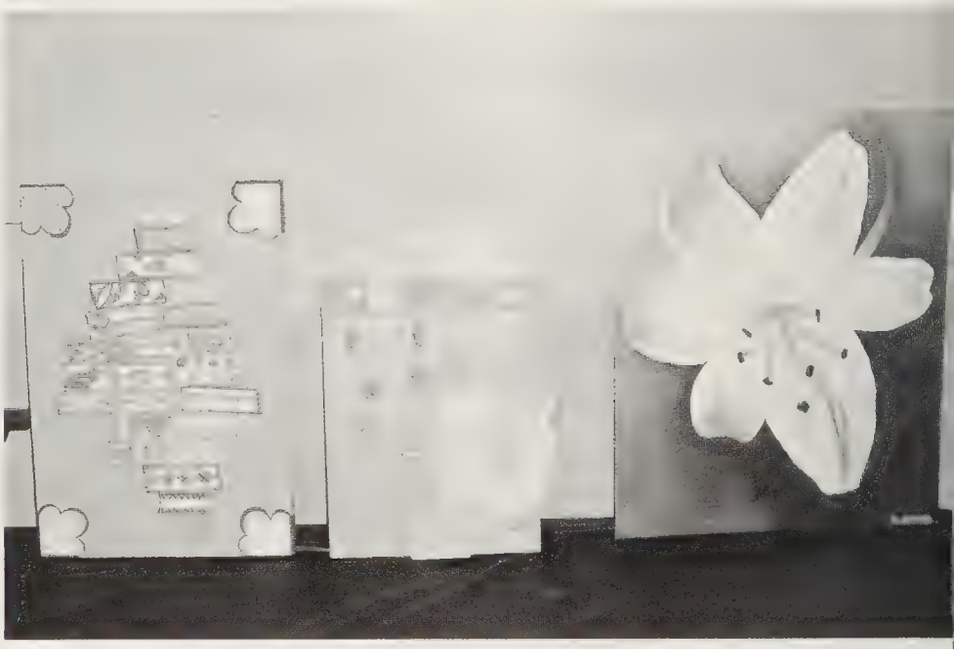
SHOW





SHOWFEST is a completely student planned and orchestrated annual event at Lick-Wilmerding. This two-day festival, made up of a performance showcase, auction, and product booths, highlights the more artistic side of LWHS community. Students and teachers alike exhibited and showcased their talents in art, music, poetry, food, and crafts. Proceeds from the Aim High Showcase and the sale of food and crafts were donated to several educational associations throughout the Bay Area. The photos on these pages are only a small representation of the immense amount of talent possessed by so many people associated with Lick.

The Waves, The St. Valentinez, and 4real, were just a few of the spectacular performances from that night.

SPRINGTIME

Springtime is no different from the rest of the seasons at Lick– classes continue, the seasonal sports commence, flu and illness reign– except for the ever-so daunting Springtime showers. The interminable rain kept many Lick students indoors during this season, idling and sitting about, but those few days the sun did appear, Lick students sure did revel in its briefness,but only to count down those days till the end of school that is.

Performing Arts

The performing arts at Lick are truly unique and special in every facet and provide an opportunity for expression in an incredible variety of mediums. Whether your passion is dance, music or theater, there is a home for you in the Lick-Wilmerding community. Over the course of this school year, the students and extended community have been able to witness spectacular performances, ranging from the colorful rendition of Shakespeare's Twelfth Night to the engaging dance performances, such as TwoDay.Despite the fact that not every student participates in the performing arts, there is no doubt that every student enjoys attending each of the events put on. Often forgotten is the behind the scenes work of the Stage Craft Crew, constantly at the helm of every Lick Performance, and there is no question that their set design and tech work enhance each performance.

Fall Play

The fall play this year was a lively rendition of Shakespeare's "Twelfth Night." Freshmen, Sophomores, and Juniors starred in our colorful cast of characters that ranged from twins separated at sea to a drunken old man. Starring in the lead female roles were Rachel Brodwin '13 as Olivia and Bella Mello '13 as the cross-dressing Viola. Their male counterparts were taken by Gabe McCulloch '12 and David Kurlander '13. A surprising aspect was that the director Miguel Zavala put an artificial pond smack dab in the center of the stage. The new addition to the set was incredible in its authenticity. The actors demonstrated a great deal of adaptability and agility while performing with this creative set addition.

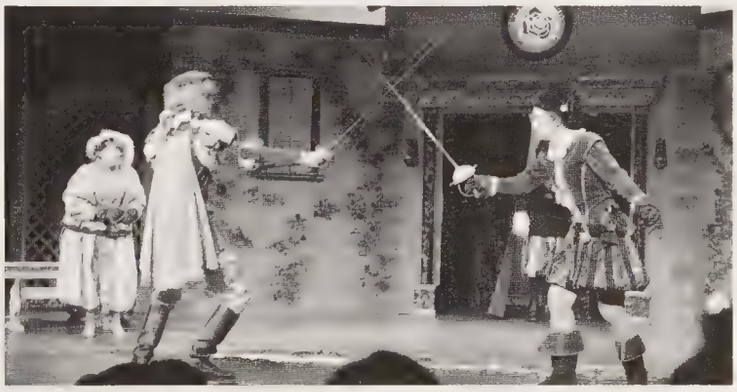
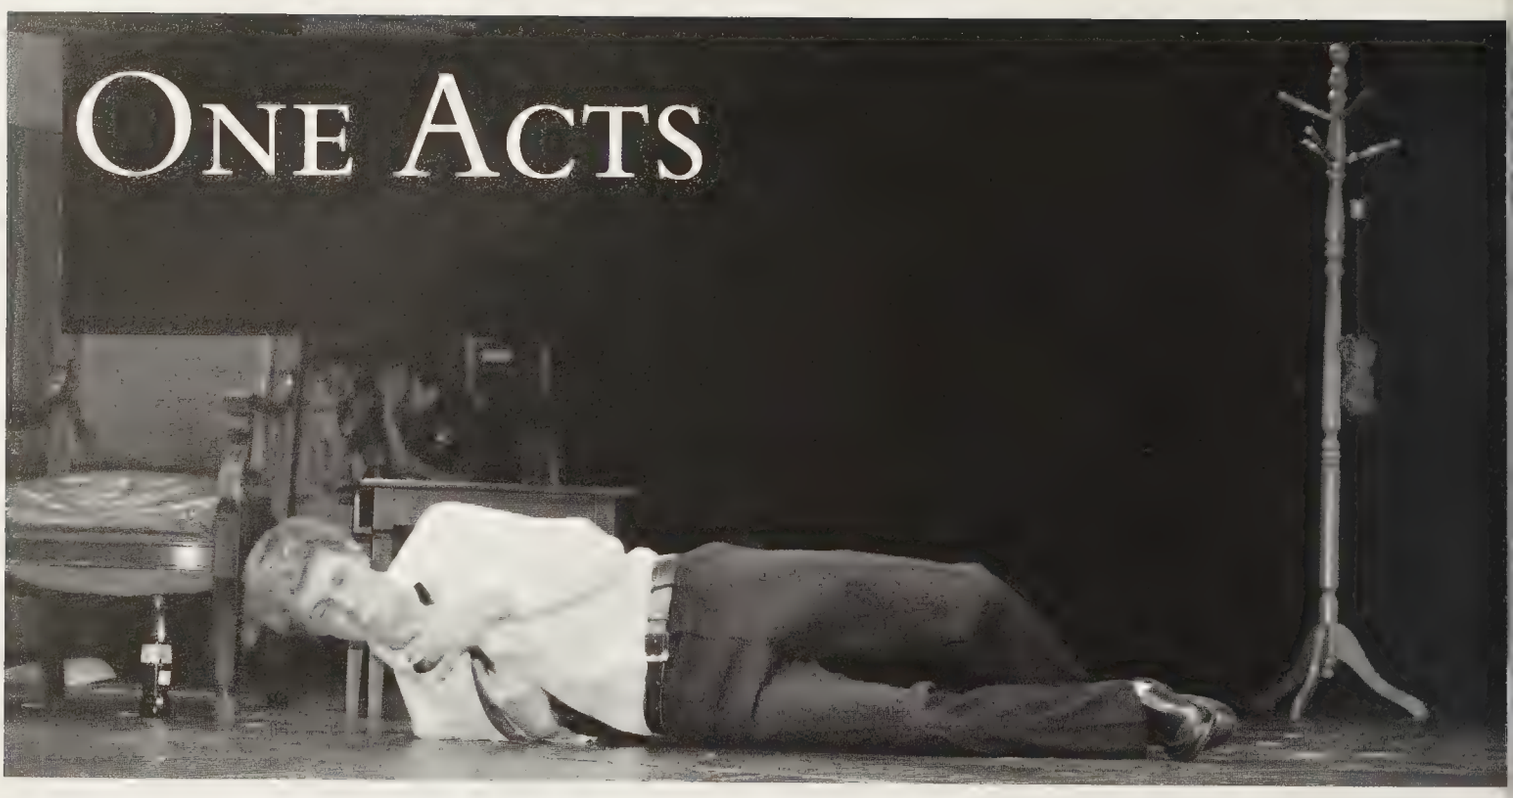
TWELFTH NIGHT



One Acts



It starts with the playwright. The playwright takes whatever crazy idea they have, crafts it into a couple thousand words. They then submit their masterpiece to Mr. Zavala, who ensures that the identity of the playwright remains anonymous during the play selection process. The directors read all of the submissions, convene, and select the One Acts that will be produced. Soon after, auditions are held. Prospective actors come in, two by two to show their ability to take a character off the page. After two days of auditions, a percentage of the actors are called back; this is the director's chance to see certain groups of actors work together. The directors again assemble to cast all of the One Acts. Three hours, several arguments, and a few tears later, the directors emerge with the final cast list in hand.

Before rehearsals begin, the director may ask the playwright to make edits to the One Act. Then the director meets with Kate Boyd's stagecraft class to start discussions on set design, lighting, and sound. Eventually rehearsals begin, and the actor begins to give life to the One Act. A few stressful weeks later, somehow, miraculously, we have a show. The audience will laugh at the witty banter in How to Write a Serious One Act, and will bawl at the beautifully solemn words in Home. At the end of the night, when the audience erupts in applause, of the 50+ people involved in the production, each one has a bittersweet smile in his or her heart.

Music

Music. It runs through our soul. As an institution and a community that prides itself on its strengths through the head, the heart, and the hands, I can find no other realm that more perfectly encompasses these aspects than the art of music. Throughout the year, Lick-Wilmerding High School fosters the growth of young musicians through many events that give students the opportunity to perform and express themselves in their community. The excellent classical, jazz and choral classes at Lick-Wilmerding have bi-yearly concerts that showcase their hard work over the entire semester. Fundraisers that are organized by Lick students almost always feature musicians from the Lick community itself, such as the Aim High Showcase, where the entire Lick community offered their talents! At Lick, everything begins to come full circle.

The amount of musical talent and expression that exists at Lick-Wilmerding High School is astounding. From virtuosic pianists to killer guitarists, Lick has got it all. We have a multitude of rock bands, electronic DJ's, audio producers, and talented musicians in our community. Whatever it may be, Lick has and always will be an amazing place dedicated to the art of music.

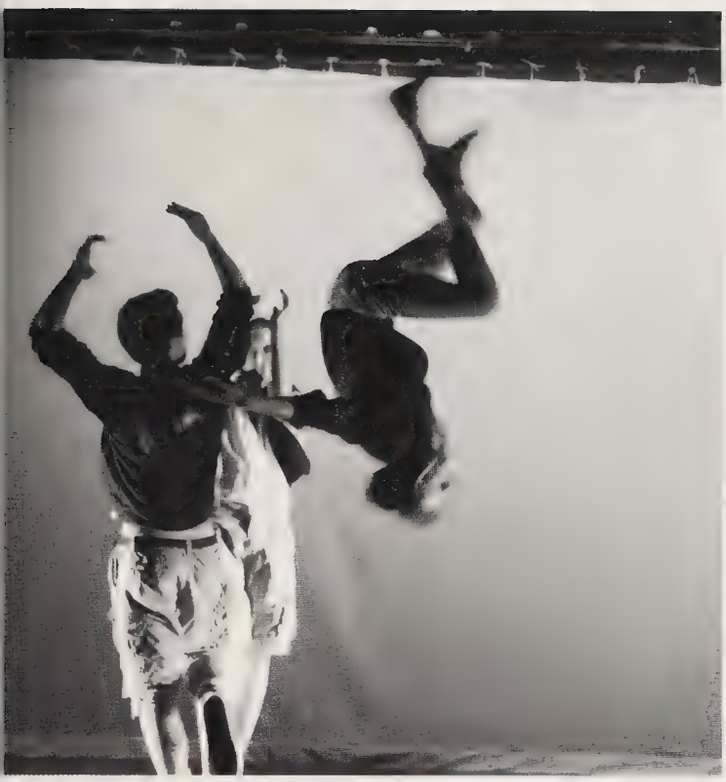
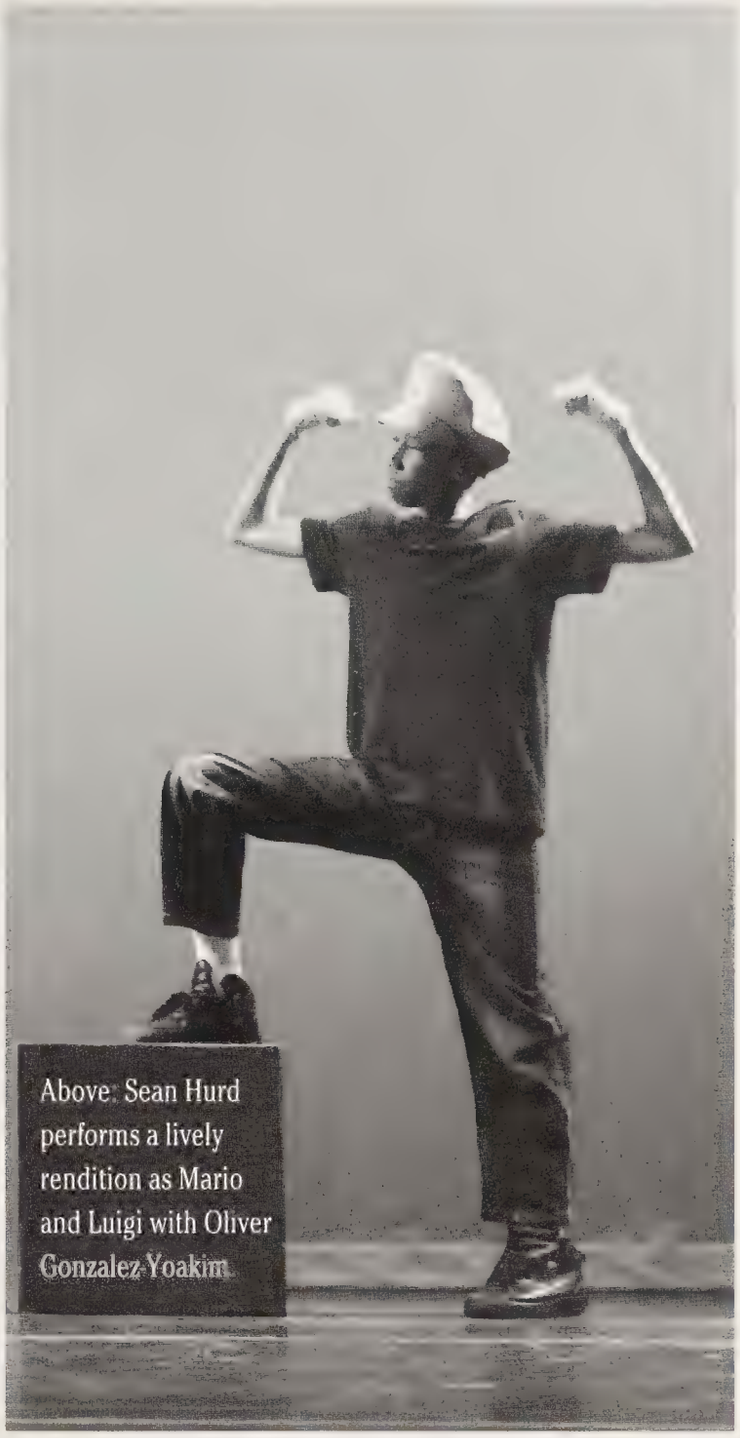
Dance

The Lick-Wilmerding Dance program is nothing short of prolific. The class allows students to perform and choreograph pieces that they created themselves and showcase them at the bi-annual dance concert. The fall concert, Two-Day, showcased a plethora of dance styles and adept use of media. The Dance Ensemble also spent time off-campus this year and performed for the greater San Francisco community.





Above: Sean Hurd performs a lively rendition as Mario and Luigi with Oliver Gonzalez-Yoakim.

Technical Arts

Part of the beauty of the Lick-Wilmerding community is the uniqueness offered in the shops, providing a place for creative expression and solace from the stresses of the grueling academic day.However, the shops offer difficulties of their own, different from those of the core classes, but difficult nonetheless. Students have to push themselves to create something truly unique and to think outside the box. Then there is the pain of making a mistake and being forced to go back through and redo the hours of work that have been ruined. But ultimately it is all worth it to be able to see a final product that is of your own creation. This year the Tech Arts department continued two extremely successful classes that began last year: the Private Skills Public Purpose class, which allows student to apply their abilities to community service, and the Alternative Energy Class that explores new energy source by constructing them themselves. Tech Arts provides a varied, different and interesting array of classes for the Lick Student and enriches the year for whoever takes them.

Drawing & Painting

"There is paint on your hands, and your face, and your neck..."
"Your point?"
"No point. Just an observation. "
"Well, this my friend is Drawing and Painting."
Yes, the Drawing and Painting class, held throughout the year and taught by none other than Mr. Osipoff, is not simply a continuation of CMA, but a continuation of that inner, artistic freak within all of us. It allows Lick students a chance to have paint shamelessly splattered and then nestled in every crook and nanny of one's porous skin. The class explores basic design in sketch drawing, with graphite and charcoal mediums, and painting renditions, which involve techniques of mixed medias, acrylic, oil paint, sumi ink, and Mr. O's personal favorite: wax.
This year, much of the artwork produced in Drawing and Painting class had the honored privilege to be gloriously displayed and enviously gazed upon at the San Francisco Airport. Fortunate travelers and weary visitors were able to glide by student's artwork and ponder at the colorful compositions and deeper creative significance the artwork oozed. It is the "deeper meaning" about art the class truly promotes – the genuine sensation of allowing the students to grow as artists through techniques and skills and the promise of an airport exhibition near a terminal baggage claim. The baggage claim always keeps the students coming back for more.

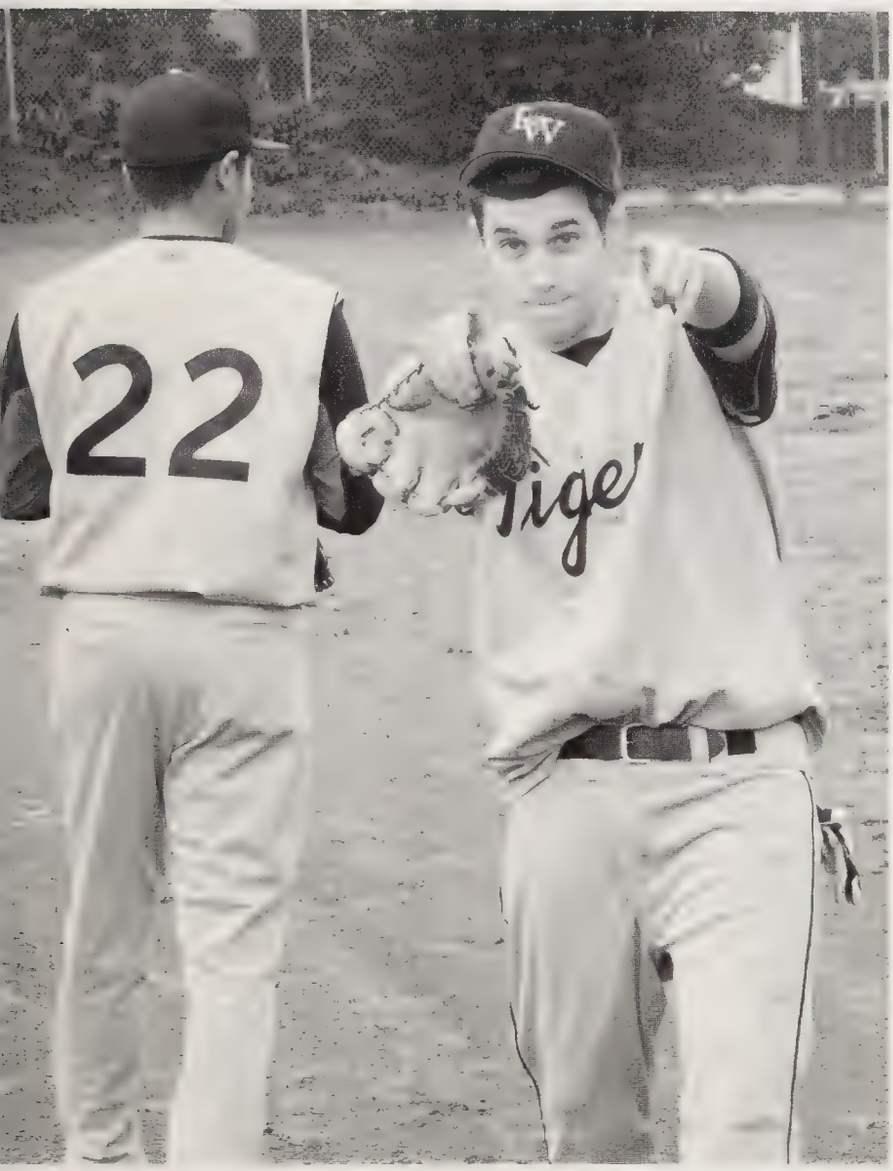
ATHLETICS



Fall Sports

A word from Athletic Director Eliot Smith:

What a Fantastic 2010 Fall Season it was for Lick-Wilmerding Athletics.

The Cross Country Team, The Varsity Girl's Volleyball Team, and The Varsity Boy's Soccer Team all qualified for the North Coast Section Playoffs. The J.V. Girl's Tennis team won the J.V. League Tittle and, for the first time ever in Varsity Tennis BCL Playoffs, a number #6 seed (Lick-Wilmerding) knocked off a number #3 team (International High School).

The younger teams also did very well. The J.V. Volleyball Team finished 12-5 overall and the J.V. Boy's Soccer team finished in 2nd place in the end of the year Soccer Jamboree. The Frosh/Soph boys also finished 3rd in the end of the year Soccer Jamboree.

When it came to school spirit who can forget Friday, October 22, when the whole student body came to cheer on our Volleyball match with University at 5:30 p.m. and then over 100 people jumped on buses to go over to Kimball Field to cheer on our Varsity boy's Soccer Team against University. It was a great day to be a Tiger and it was another example of why Lick-Wilmerding always has the best school Spirit.

We want to thank all of the head coaches and assistant coaches in our Fall Program who gave up so much of their time and energy to make sure that all of our Student-athletes had a great athletic experience. We also want to thank all of our great parents and supporters who came out to every game to cheer on the Tigers.

Thanks to everyone who participated in the Fall Sports Program for making it such a great season. GO TIGERS!

Soccer– a game of thrill. Who doesn't agree with this comment especially after Shakira promulgated her Waka Waka music video? The "thrill" was simply confirmed as Shakira shook her hips to the background of the 2010 World Cup. Anyhow, soccer, more formally known as football if you don't live in America, has that same thrill factor here at Lick-Wilmerding High School. As we all know, during the fall sports season, boys soccer takes the more prominent lead among on-field antics. Coaches Matt Kurnick and Jared Green led the varsity team to a .500 record. Their season started off strong despite some unfortunate setbacks presented in the form of a multitude of injuries among many of the players. However, torn ligaments and physical hindrances did not deter these boys from persevering through their season. Although the varsity boys did lose some of their games towards the end–making it to the first round of the BCL playoffs– they highlighted the season with strong victories over 4th ranked Head-Royce, Stuart Hall, and all non-league teams except Justin Siena and Gateway. Frosh/soph and Junior Varsity teams experienced similar seasons with the Frosh/soph team placing 3rd in Jamboree and the JV team placing 2nd in Jamboree. So even though Lick-Wilmerding's boys soccer teams might not reach international fame as Spain did for winning the World Cup, they will at least be immortalized thanks to this write up.

Throughout the season, strong senior leadership powered Lick's Varsity Volleyball through a difficult schedule, earning wins from the beginning of the pre-season till an early first round departure in the NCS playoffs. Led by coaches Erwin, Spencer, and Ron, Varsity reached NCS, putting up a fight against a strong, third-seeded Saint Patrick-Saint Vincent after placing third in BCLs. The team won 11 regular season games and had a successful playoff run before being eliminated by University. Each week bred new injuries, and several spent the entire season riding the pine, hampered by their physical setbacks. However, they worked through each sprained ankle, jammed finger, and strained back on their way to a season worth remembering. JV also had a strong season, competing well within their league and dominating out-of-league teams with strong wins over Lincoln and Waldorf. There is no doubt that the future looks good for the volleyball program.

Lick-Wilmerding's varsity girls tennis team brings to the courts strong leadership from 4 seniors and great depth from 8 juniors. Matches during practice are competitive and close, with very little separating the #1 player from #2 from #3, etc., etc. With the right doubles teams selected, we have our chances to win.

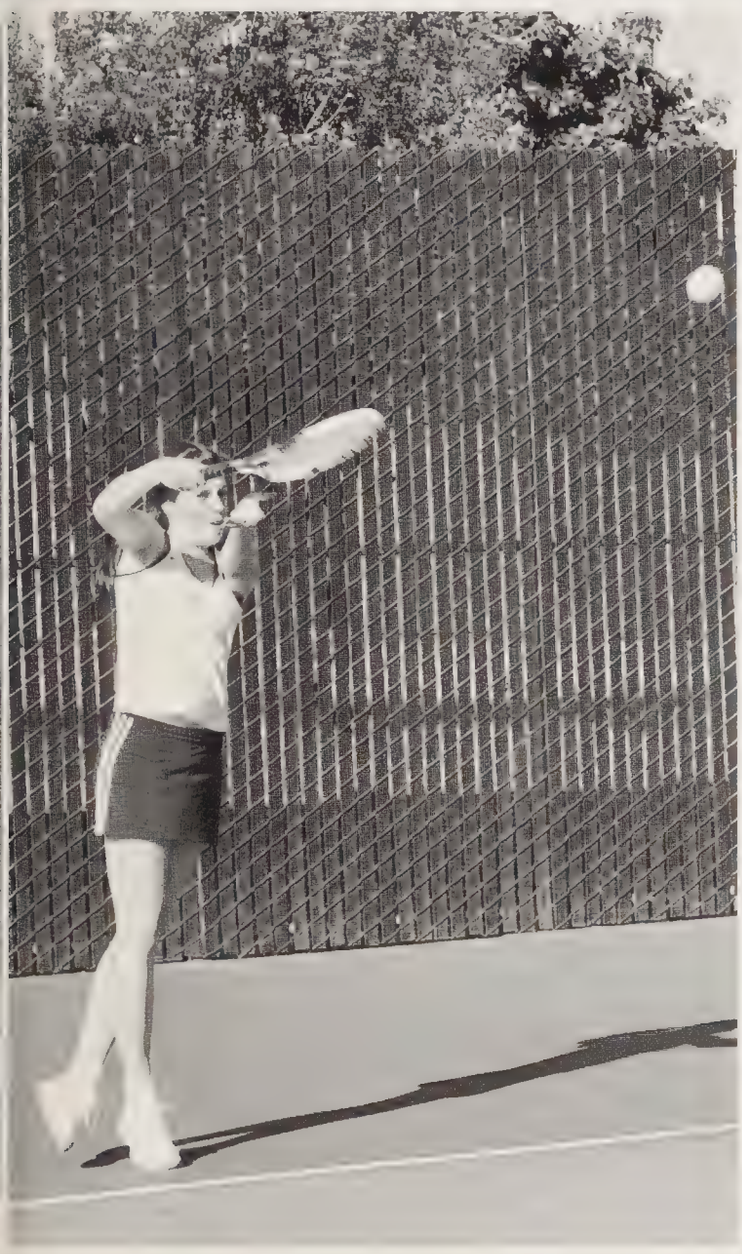
Throughout the season the Varsity girls played some great tennis, showing good sportsmanship, blooming talent and persistent interest in learning new aspects of the game. The team was always cheerful at practice and the wonderful senior captains, Kayla Abe and Alison Polite, kept things fun and focused. They started each practice with a ritual of stretching and and warming up with foot exercises to keep them speedy on the court. Unfortunately, in the individual tournament Maddy Hung, Angela Liu, Emma Arnesty-Good and Madie McBride all lost their first matches. But Arnesty-Good and Mcbride went on to win the consolation doubles championship in a 8-3 win against International High School. Further triumphs of the season were the undefeated scores of Emily Hills and Daniele Hollander who never stopped supporting the team with their spirit and winning streak. The four seniors on the team will be missed, yet the JV powered through and rose to league champions under the leadership of captains Amelia DeSnoo and Leila Roberts.

Girls Tennis



Cross Country

From the Girls' co-captains...

Puking, peeing and passing out might sum up the Girls 2010 Cross-Country season, but despite the rough conditions, this group of runners have had some of the best performances in the team's history. School records were broken by juniors Lucia Calthorpe and Rachel Prensky-Pomeranz. Co- captains Eliza Kingsley-Ma ('11) and Rachel Prensky-Pomeranz ('12) led the team to a top 4 finish at the BCL West Championships and a 6th place finish at the North Coast Section Championships, just missing qualifying for the State Meet. Although the season was not without obstacles, the work ethic of each and every runner held strong even into the finishing kick. One of the largest rosters at Lick, this team is full of spirit. As proven with their quirky starting line cheer, this team has heart.

-Rachel Prensky-Pomeranz and Eliza Kingsley-Ma

...and from the Guys' Captain

This season of boys cross country has been wonderful. There was a great group of freshmen boys who came out for the team and really stuck with it, as well as the abundance of veteran runners who were able to lead these freshmen through a great season. To the testament of our great coach and to prove themselves as the next great team, the JV runners once again took the title of Champions at the BCL championship race to finish off a great season. The Varsity team valiantly competed against teams in a league where every runner had improved by leaps and bounds over the summer. The final seven took to the line on at NCS for the last time and ran their hearts out to end the season with a bang. While the seven seniors will be missed, the team will live on in the fierceness of the returning runners. Remember to tuck the shirt in, match your compression shorts, and just "MAN UP!"

Winter Sports

What a fantastic year it was for Winter Sports!

This was the first year for our wrestling program in league competition. All of our wrestlers did a fantastic job wrestling against all of the public schools in San Francisco. It was very exciting to go to a home wrestling match and see our Tigers fight to the very end. Our wrestling team deserves a lot of credit competing with 10 players against schools that had over 40 wrestlers.

This was also the first year that we offered 3 Boys Basketball Teams and 3 Girls Basketball Teams.

The Varsity Boys had a very good year, going all the way to the NCS Playoffs and the Semi-Finals of the BCL West . The Varsity Girls also had a very good year making it all the way to the BCL West Semi-Finals as well.

Both of our J.V. teams had a great year, with our girls winning the J.V. Championship and the Boys finishing the season strong with some great wins at the end of the year.

Finally, both of our Frosh/Soph teams did a great job of learning the fundamentals and getting out there every night giving it everything they had. The boys and girls teams demonstrated that we will have a lot of good players for many more years playing basketball. GO TIGERS!

Basketball this year was a new beginning for many. New coaches, new players, and new challenges. We came out strong, with great senior leadership from Zoey Surdis, Jody Fu, Brianna San Diego and Rai'Nani Banks. They led us passionately with their Tiger heart through every win, loss, and overtime. Zoey led the team with her massive spirit and undying faith in our team; she never gave up and led her Tigers down a challenging path ahead. Brianna and Jody delivered on the court. Jody making many crucial points from the post, helping lead the Tigers to many victories throughout pre and regular season. Brianna led with her loud voice and enthusiasm on the court, hoping to pump up her fellow teammates and get the wins we all wanted. Rai' Nani, although injured, helped organize the team throughout the game and keep track of points, fouls, steals and more. Although the season wasn't successful in winning a championship, the Tigers played their heart out at every game, giving it their all. Let's go Tigers!

Reflecting the leadership of Coach Eliot Smith, the Varsity Boys enjoyed a stellar season from the first tip off in November to an outstanding final game in the NCS Playoffs in late February. And who were these characters and what did they do? All tourney honors, more than once, to Kishan Jay and Isaiah Boone. California State leader in charges taken (37): Ben Faustine. PJ Stone playing with just four operable fingers and dishing the ball to Lucas Howard. Ben Schneider and Danny Baldocchi clearing the boards. Evan Korn and Drew Forrest hitting threes from downtown. Tomás Fuentes breaking the press and leading Andrew Rauch to a quality basket. Granger Tripp hitting the jumper from the corner of Ocean and Howth.
14 games won. 14 games lost. A season that continued the tradition of great basketball at Lick-Wilmerding. Teammates, sportsmen, leaders all. Champions find a way...and these guys did.

The JV basketball team had an up and down adventure this season. Point guard, David Allen '14, led the team in scoring with many clutch shots and exciting finishes at the rim. Captains, Tianrae Chu '12 and Matthew Bergland '13, guided the team off and on the court, while fellow captain Jack Manolius '14, and center Jackson Clawson '13, provided consistent rebounding and inside presence in a lineup plagued all year long with a variety of injuries. Despite this, the team found a way to compete in all of their games, especially in league play where they came up with several very huge wins in close games.

Badminton: the unsung sport. The Lick-Wilmerding badminton team of 2011 comprises mostly of senior boys (including Darren Chu, Timothy Defreitas, Michael Yuen-Hurwitz, and Darren Yee) and freshman girls (including Ruchika Majumdar, Whitney Tse, and Natalie Sun). The three remaining upperclassmen who will take over the team next year are Sydney King '13, Kiran Siebel '13, and Jacob Badger '12. Though many of our top players graduated in 2010, we still have a chance to defend our co-title as BCL champions (shared with University, which is the first time in a number of decades that University did not take home the championship). This year we are proud to welcome two new volunteer coaches Jack Simke (father of Ari Simke '11), and John Hadeler (father of Eddie Hadeler '12) which brings us to a total of 4 coaches (5 if you include occasional coach Darren Yee '11). Led by long-time badminton coach and player Coach Smith, and returning volunteer coach Ronald Yee (father of Darren Yee '11) there is no telling as to what the 2011 badminton team will achieve.

The LW Varsity Girls' Soccer team is led by senior captains Emma Devereux, Zoey Surdis and Eliza "Ping" Kingsley-Ma who seek to guide this young team of women back to the BCL league championship game for the sixth consecutive year, hoping to finally be crowned champions! Senior leadership will be important this year as a number of four-year starters graduated last year leaving some big shoes to be filled. Fortunately for Lick-Wilmerding, a number of talented freshmen have joined this year and our returning sophomores and juniors are playing better than ever! With hard work, dedication, and a little luck this could be our year!

Although none of the games up to this point have been successful, this year's Junior Varsity soccer team is prepared for a prosperous season. There was a large turnout at tryouts, which produced a strong team of girls. While the team lost to Lowell and Tam, two good teams, they beat Branson, a team that Lick normally struggles against. The team of eighteen girls is coached by Julie Duvivier and Gavin Birmingham. At practice, the team worked extremely hard to improve their technique and thinking on the field.

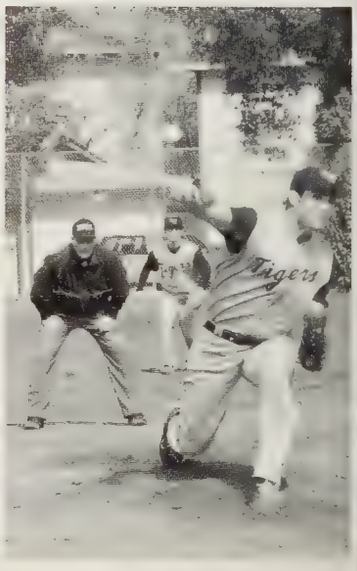
Baseball is one of Lick's strongest athletic programs. Lead by coaches Manny Granillo and Scott Garlow the Lick Tigers are seeking their 5th consecutive BCL title. They played half their games at nearby Skyline College. The Tigers started the 2010-2011 season with key win over Cloverdale and a dominating appearance against Urban. The team lead by captains Danny Baldocchi, Nick Brownrigg, and Will Page. Junior Nick Corson has been at the core of the pitching staff this season posting a .071 era in his first 18 innings of pitching.



GOLF

Sam Ebstein, Jeremy Moser Jeff Kaminsky, Isaac Maycock, Josh Moser

Led by the defending league champ, Jeff Kaminsky, with strong support from fellow senior Josh Moser,the Tigers are hoping for a run at the league title. Team members Jeremy Moser, Isaac Maycock, and Sam Ebstein round out what will be the strongest team in our three year history. Josh Moser, who will be playing at Amherst next year, has had a stellar start to the season so far. He shot a 32 against Drew and 33 against defending league champion Marin Academy. The freshman Sam Ebstein, has had some very strong performances for his first year in competitive golf with a 36 against Marin Academy. However, the Tigers fell one stroke short of defeating them at their home course, Fleming at Harding Park. The team has a lot of potential and could very well win the league championship at Harding Park if the whole team can post solid scores for one round.

For the first time in Lick-Wilmerding history, the boys' varsity tennis team is prepared to compete with league powerhouses MA and University, and possibly an NCS Tournament bid. The team is strong from top to bottom with a singles core consisting of Captain Leo Linden, Bryson Lee and Captain Tianrae Chu, and doubles teams of Tianlee Chu and Trey Tickner and at #2 doubles, Kyle Huang and Michael Lichtman. The season began with strong wins against perennial city champion Lowell and Riordan. Despite a tough loss to University, the team is in high spirits and under the leadership of returning Coach Mike Axtell, ready to sweep through the rest of league. However there is no doubt that one of the most memorable moments of the year will be those spent bonding while belting out a chorus of "Take Me Home Tonight" in Tickner's car.

The Junior Varsity team has many strong players and appear to a formidable force in the league. The future of Tennis at Lick-Wilmerding looks very promising!

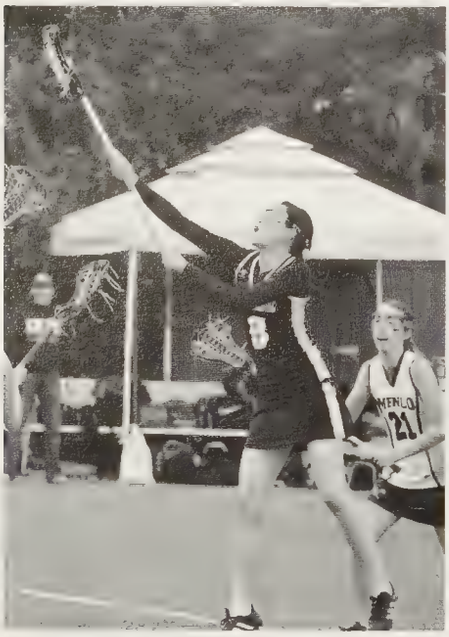
The girls team has won 10 of the 11 league championships since 2000 and is the 3-time defending champion. They started their season with a convincing win against the rest of the league and are the favorites to win the title again. The team is led by senior captains Rai Nani Banks, Chrissa Gaines, and Nicole Gilmore. The team returns BCL West champions in the 100 and 400 (Nicole), the 800 (Lucia Calthorpe), high jump and triple jump (Sabrine Haroun), long jump and 300 hurdles (Heather Bourne), and the 4x100 relay team of Leah Sherman, Nicole, Heather, and Janet Wong. Those individual champions, the 4x100 and 4x400 relay teams, and a deep group of jumpers led the team to the school's second NCS Class A Championship last year (the first since 2001) and have a legitimate chance to become the school's first repeat NCS Champions.

The boys team has won 8 of the last 10 BCL West championships and is the defending champion. They outscored the 2nd and 3rd place teams in a dominant performance at the first league meet and are overwhelming favorites to retain their title. They are led by senior captain Caleb Banks in the long and triple jumps, junior Isaiah Boone in the triple and high jumps, and a group of younger sprinters in the 100, 200, and 4x100 relay (Michael Galathe, Gevon Taylor, William Liang, and Matt Cheong). Captains Joseph Begun and Michael Kreher lead the 4x400 team and middle distances, and senior Dare Bodington leads a very strong group of hurdlers, including Greg Rousso and Hansoo Song. Freshman record-holder in the shot put and discus, Andrew Rauch, is establishing himself as one of the best throwers in the league.

Girls' Lacrosse



The varsity team played with intensity and enthusiasm, led by captains Leah Sherman, Ari Simke, and Caroline Doyle. Leah was the team's top scorer with her strong offensive skills, while Ari and Miranda Ngyuen contributed with their unstoppable crease rolls. Lydia Moog, Daryl Toy, and Christina Gee kept the ball in Lick's sticks by fighting for the ball off the draw and getting the ball straight down to the opposing teams goal, and Brianna San Diego used her strong spirit to lead the defense. -Caroline Doyle

Lick's second year of lacrosse brought a new wave of girls who were eager to play lacrosse but had no experience. Thus a JV team was born. Led by captains Chantelle Schultz and Rachel Brodwin, and with Julianne's ground balls pickups, Rebecca's draws, and Chelo's superb ability to stop the ball, the JV lacrosse team had a great season. -Chantelle Schultz '13

Lacrosse – the sport of the Juggernaut – a game of life and death. Few take the challenge; fewer survive the beatings. This year the program gained some solid underclassmen talent and, perhaps equally important, depth in numbers as well. With only six upperclassmen on the team – four of whom play long pole – the team struggled to find a groove on offense in the beginning of the season. As the season has progressed, however, the attack and midfield have shown some chemistry and individual outbursts of scoring. While the D line holds it down for now, it will not be long before Lick once again proves its merit as a perennial league powerhouse on both ends of the field.

Swimming

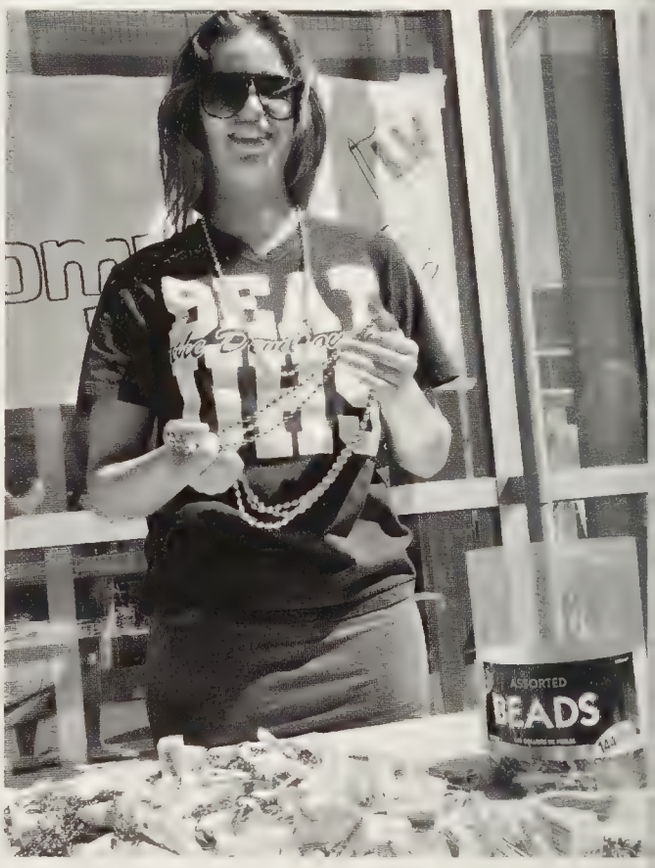
The swim team had a magnificent season with new head Coach Giles Thompson, who is also Lick's very own wood shop teacher. Assisting Coach Giles were the 2011 captains: Selena Buzinky, Brendan Gee, Ian Theriault-Shay, Justin Loustau, and Laura Webber. This year the team also had ten new swimmers consisting of freshmen and juniors. With new swimmers and a new coach, came new skills and mind blowing personal records. With Tony Lau '13 swimming his 100 yard breast stroke at 1:03:20, Brendan Gee '11 swimming his 50 yard free at 00:24, and Selena Buzinky '11 swimming her 500 yard free at 6:30:00, it's no wonder how this team of extremely fast swimmers won most of their meets. Not only is the team fast, but they are all very enthusiastic and spirited; always cheering on their fellow swimmers.

Got Clubs?

Below: Co-president of Spirit Committee Zoey Surdis entices passersby with Mardi Gras beads on the club fair day on a sunny fall afternoon.



Yes. Yes we do. The variety is daunting and, frankly, oftentimes overwhelming. Each new day seems to sport some sort of club function around the school whether hosted by Spirit Committee, the Nick Cagelback Fan Group, Filipino Heritage or mid-year additions like the Turophiles' (better known as Cheese Lovers') Club. Truly, interests and enthusiasm change on a daily – even minute-by-minute – basis around LW.

A few core clubs, however, have chosen to leave their mark on your memories with quick reminders as to what they were all about in the 2010-2011 school year:

Writer's Workshop

Writer's Workshop, led by Juniors Raven Carson and Jaki Kimball, focuses on encouraging our club members to be creative and take risks in their writing. There are no restrictions on type, style or genre and the club is full of a combination of aspiring novelists, recreational creative writers, and even non-writers who we hope to encourage. During meetings we discuss writing skills, tips, and sources of inspiration (with the occasional treat of baked goods!). The major event that took place in the fall in Writer's Workshop was our participation in NaNoWriMo (National Novel Writing Month) where many of us strived to hit the 50,000-word manuscript goal in the 30 days of November. We had many who courageously attempted the challenge and multiple people who ambitiously completed their manuscript. But most importantly, Writer's Workshop wishes to inspire all writers and bring fun into the creative process.

Baking Club

Baking Club is a new club this year. It allows students to bond and to improve their baking skills through baking events that take place right on the Lick-Wilmerding campus. The club benefited outside communities, such as cookies for a San Francisco homeless shelter, and supported school events such as treats for Lick-Wilmerding's middle school programs.

Climbing Club

The climbing club goals are to bring Lick students together who enjoy rock climbing and to reach out to those that may be interested in the sport. The climbing club is open to beginner, intermediate, and advanced climbers . We enjoy sharing various techniques, experiences and plan quarterly climbing adventures outdoors . We encourage all and anyone to visit or join us for some climbing on Day 2 during tutorial or Day 4 after school at the Climbing Wall .

GSA

Gay Straight Alliance brings together LGBTQ youth and straight allies to fight homophobia and transphobia as well as educate the community. This year the GSA club held their annual marriage booth event on Valentine's Day. The event allows students and faculty to marry someone of the same or different gender freely. Some students went all out and even bought their spouse a wedding ring.

Chess Club

Chess Club seeks to teach and promote the intellectually stimulating game of chess in the Lick-Wilmerding community." The chess club meets almost everyday in the cafeteria to play chess, improve our skills and share strategies.

Community Action Club

Community Action Club hopes to connect Lick students with regular volunteer opportunities, both on campus and off campus. We have organized, and will continue to organize, events such as the food drive, the clothing drive, and Rebuilding Together. This year, we plan to expand our commitment to helping the San Francisco community by coordinating more volunteer events off campus, at locations such as St. Anthony's and Alemany Farm. In addition to creating events for students to get involved, we will also provide a space for club members to develop their own ideas for service learning projects with lots of support from each other and the club leaders.

Spirit Committee

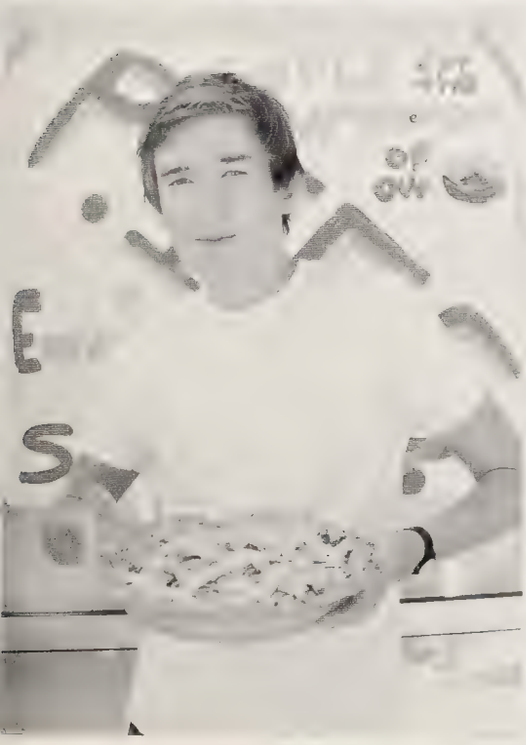
Spirit Committee kicked off both semesters with free Mitchell's Ice Cream for the entire school! And through out the course of the year, they put together many school wide spirit events like the rivalry boys soccer game against UHS. The committee also got the school prepped for the big Oracle game with beaded necklaces, t-shirts, and war paint. Furthermore, the club worked with the dance committee and student council to get everyone pumped for events such as Howth, Hawaii Five-Yo, and Showfest.

KIVA

It began with a couple of Lick students wanting to make a change. They asked themselves, "Is there a long-term, realistic solution to world hunger?" And this is just what KIVA strives to do; be the solution. KIVA is a micro-loaning, non-profit organization with the goal of alleviating poverty. By facilitating online loans between people across the planet, KIVA supports individuals like 27-year old Pendo Luisi, who requested a loan of $175 to open a café in Tanzania. The newly founded Lick-Wilmerding KIVA club has raised over $750 so far, and hopes to reach $1,000 by May. KIVA changes the world, one loan at a time.

PIES

PIES, People for the Improvement of Environment and Society, strives to educate, advocate, and innovate. This year, members of PIES club went to downtown San Francisco loaded with baked goods and a ukulele. They offered a slice of pie to anyone who would answer this question: What would make the world a better place? Homeless people, business executives, and college students shared a range of answers from "creating a healthy fast-food chain" to "telling the truth." PIES released a home-made documentary about this experience and hopes to keep the conversation flowing. With its first year under its belt, PIES club looks to continue its mission of baking and volunteerism.



Who could possibly resist a pie? Egon Conway knows the secret to getting hoards of people to get on board and sign up for more – whether baking more pies or opportunities to engage in social justice.

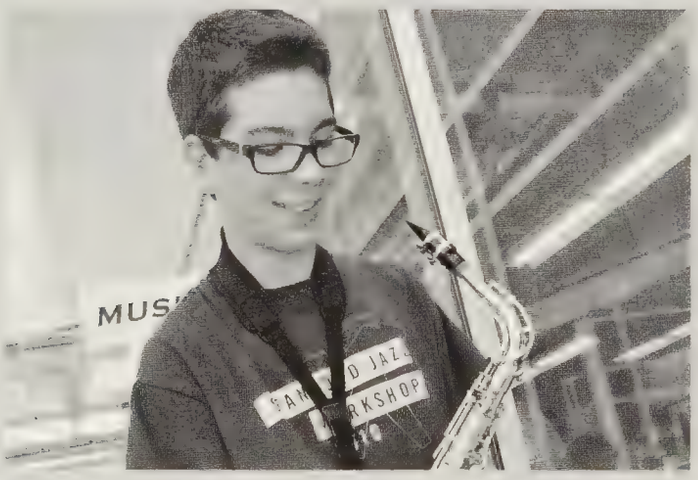
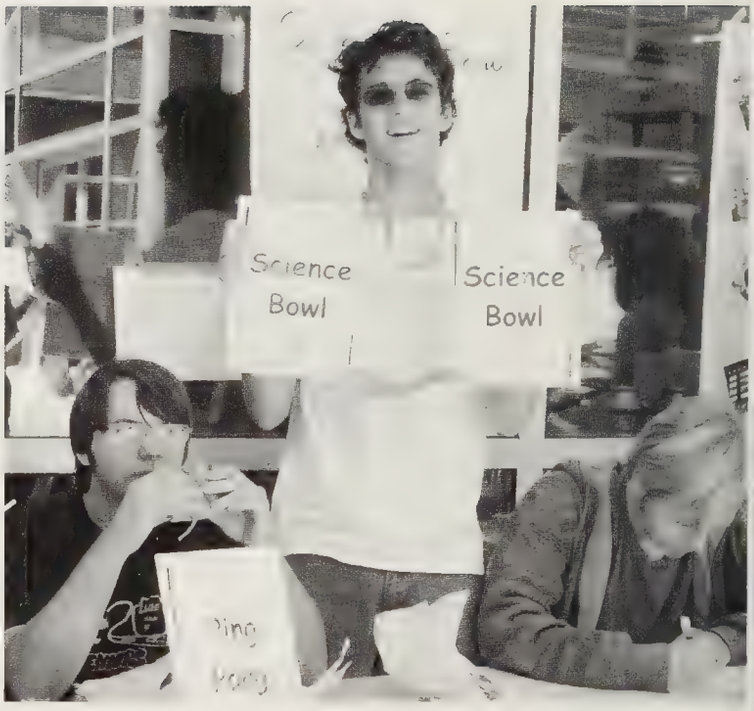
Music For Others

We are musicians who meet regularly to play music together that we like. Then we perform the music at schools, fund-raising events, nursing homes, and elsewhere for people who cannot otherwise get out and hear music. We enjoy it and hope the people who hear us do too.





Science Bowl

The Science Bowl club is a group of students who practice together to prepare for the annual DOE Science Bowl competition, a Jeopardy-style trivia competition testing all manner of science knowledge. Categories include Earth and Space (a combination of geology, meteorology, and astronomy), Math (including computer science), Physics, Chemistry, Biology, and Energy (encompassing energy policy, issues of efficiency, and global climate change). The competition pits teams of five from twenty schools around the Bay Area against each other, with the winner advancing to the National Science Bowl in Washington DC.

This year, the science bowl A team competed at the regional competition at the Stanford Linear Accelerator Center at the end of February. They advanced on to the second regional round for the first time in Lick history.

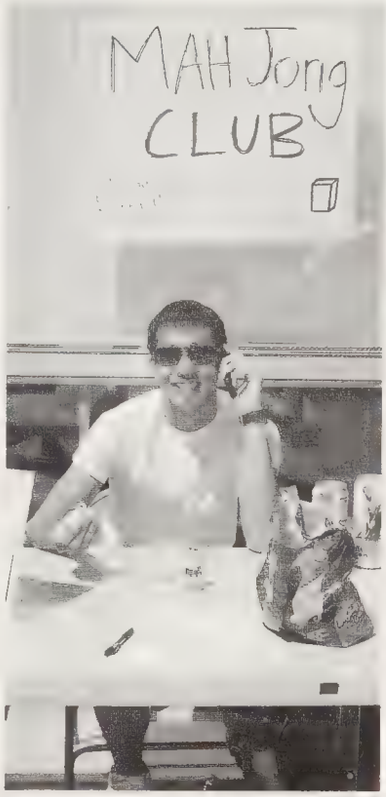
Environmental Club

The Environmental Club is a made up of individuals who are willing to take action against the threats to the planet today. Club members are expected to maintain an 'eco-friendly' mindset at all times, remembering simple actions they can make to reduce their impact on the planet. In meetings we discuss prominent environmental issues and how we can help to improve them. It is a service oriented club and participates in coastal clean-ups and other activities in the community.

Mah Jong Club

One of the great things about Lick is the ability for a passion with a small following to still make a noteworthy impact around campus. Throughout the year, members of Mah Jong Club could be spotted with their tiles playing the morning hours away in the caf at a brisk yet relaxed pace. The game itself arouses a sense of mystery and curiosity in many – a game similar to Gin Rummy in nature yet outwardly different in every way.

Club leader Brendan Gee says this was the whole basis for starting the club in the first place. "Mah Jong," he says, " always interested me as a child. From the outside of the circle, the game always seemed overbearingly difficult. But once I started playing, the game showed just how simple and relaxing it truly was." Brendan says the club intended to increase accessibility to the game for others – give people unfamiliar or slightly intimidated to freely give it a shot here at school where it's a friendly, easy-going environment. Mah Jong here at Lick also included in its mission a desire to open students up to a fun component of Chinese culture that offers a great reprieve from the days studies.



BSU

The goal of the Black Student Union is to create a supportive community and safe place for students of all backgrounds to gather and discuss diversity at Lick-Wilmerding and in the Bay Area.

Led by Anna Haugen, and Co-Presidents Zoe Begun and Gelyna Price, F-BOMB strives to help prevent domestic violence and sex trafficking by fund-raising for anti-domestic violence and anti-sex trafficking prevention organizations and educating our community about these issues and their negative impacts on the world. F-BOMB organized a production of The Vagina Monologues for V- DAY, a global activist movement to stop violence against women and girls. The club raised about $545, and all of the funds raised through the performance benefited both Bay Area and Haitian charities that are dedicated to preventing the physical and sexual abuse of women.

Subject to Change (STC)

Sean Hurd and Oliver Gonzalez-Yoakum paired together at the beginning of this year to form Subject to Change – an after school hip-hop dance troupe at Lick. At a dozen members strong, STC, as they call themselves, meets in the dance studio during tutorial to let off excess steam with some of the most memorable flare and funk seen around Lick during '10-'11.

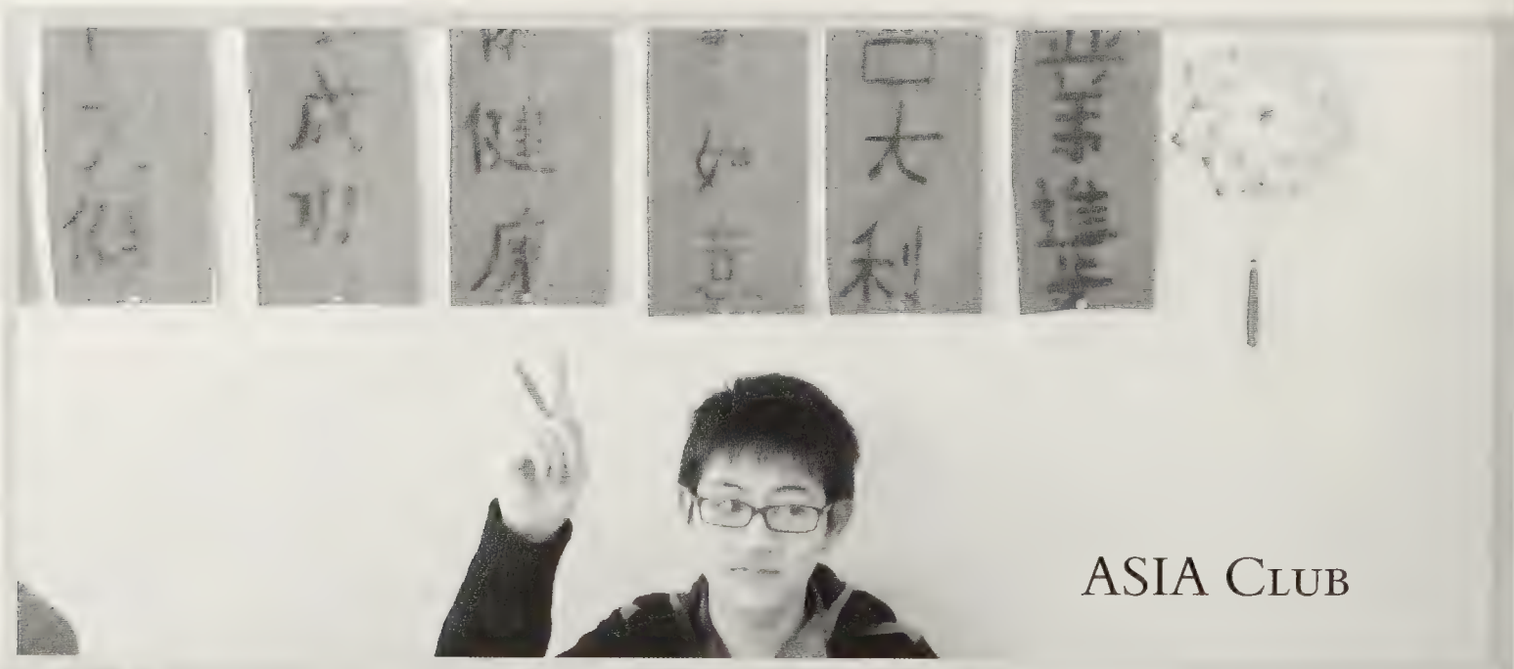
Latinos Unidos

Latinos Unidos always has a strong presence around campus. This year has been no different. Above is the first semester agua fresca sale, hosted on a glorious Indian summer day.

The goals of Latinos Unidos are simple and straightforward. Its fearless leaders, Jeanette Hanna and Carlos Duran-Velasco, have stated a mission which strives to build community amongst the Latino students at Lick-Wilmerding, to build bridges with students from other culturally focused clubs, and to educate and celebrate Latino culture.

Filipino Heritage Club

Our goal, as the Filipino Club, is to spread the Filipino culture throughout our community. We want to further expand our diverse student body at Lick by adding the Filipino viewpoint amongst the myriad of multicultural perspectives in our school. We hosted many events open to all students to communicate the different components that constitute the Filipino identity. Our club events include Lumpia making, Filipino food selling, watching classic Filipino movies and hosting various Filipino fundraising events. Through these events, we hope to incorporate the Filipino perspective into the school in an interactive and engaging way and allow others to understand what it truly means to be Filipino. Although this goal of fully incorporating the Filipino identity to Lick is a demanding task and may even be impossible to be accomplished in one year, we hope to establish a strong foundation for further years to come.



ASIA Club

ASIA(Asian Students in Alliance) Club is an open meeting space for Lick-Wilmerding students to learn and appreciate Asian and Asian-American history and culture. This club is devoted to creating a sense of community that fosters Asian identity and is committed to raising awareness about Asian issues in the larger community. Hosting events such as a conference in April called "Through Asian Eyes: A Student-led Conference exploring how race shapes identity," and selling tapioca drinks at Lick, ASIA Club is all about spreading the Asian culture in the Lick-Wilmerding community. The club also had a booth at Showfest, where they grilled some delicious Korean BBQ and sold spam musubi.

The goal of HAPA club is to foster relationships among all students of Lick, with a focus on mixed ethnicities in order to open a dialogue in which we can discuss our place in world's past, present and future.

Garden Club

Lick is lucky to have several gardens on its campus. We have the opportunity to preserve these beautiful natural spaces. The Garden Club was established to keep these gardens in great condition so everyone who comes to Lick could enjoy them. We regularly meet in the garden throughout the year either to work, to share gardening tips, to relax, or to get a little exercise. So remember to stop by one of these open air spaces. They are a great place to find some peace and quiet when needing some down time from our hectic schedules or to do a little community service.

Card Club

Less writing. Fewer formalities. More card playing. Ante up —

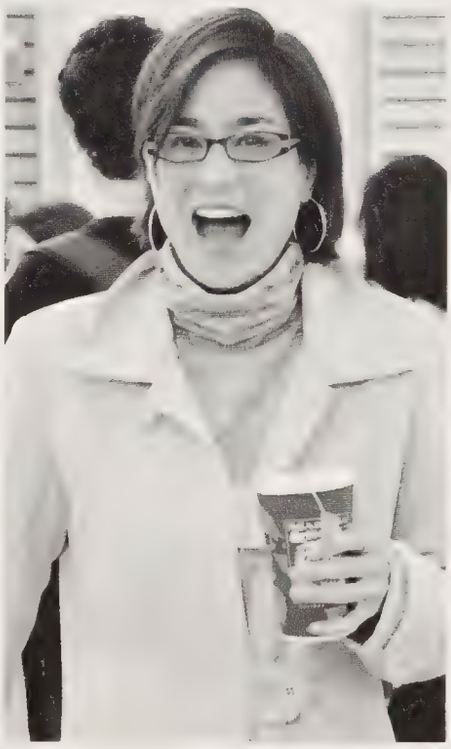
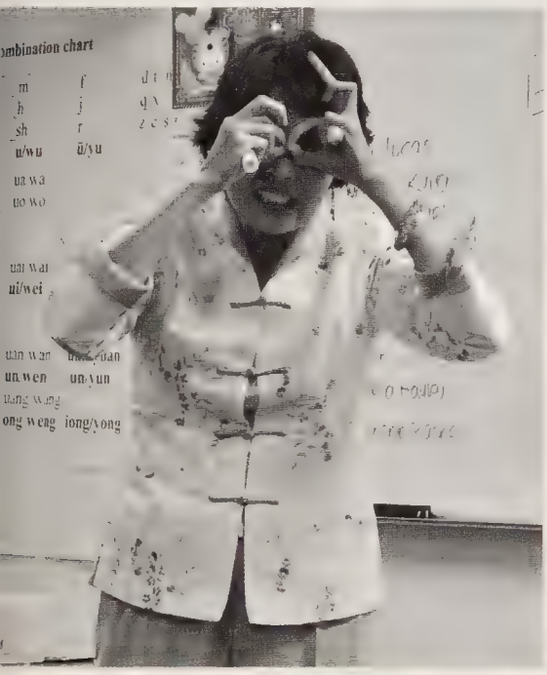
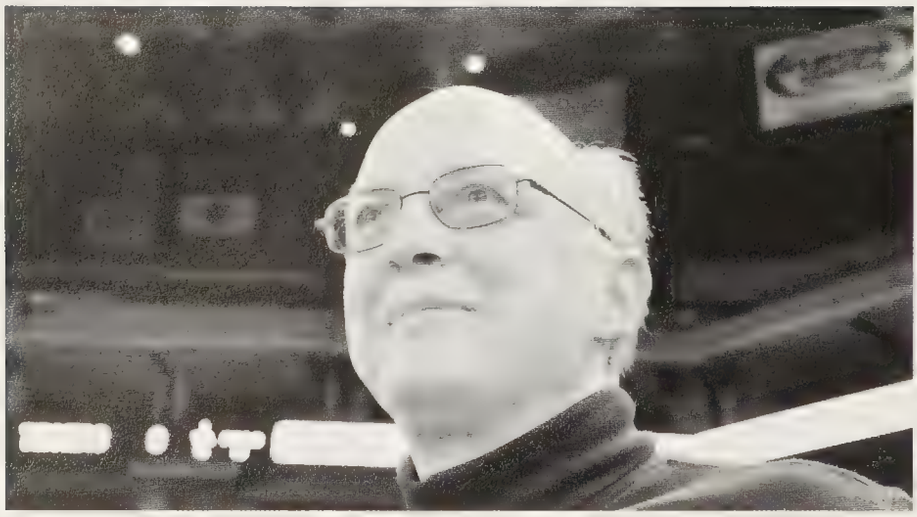
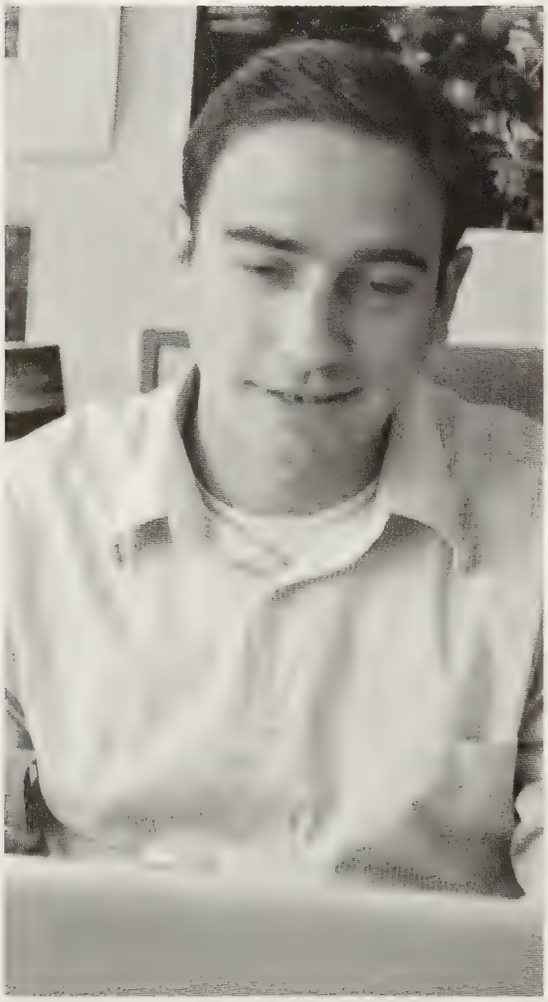
The faculty and staff of Lick-Wilmerding are a vital and vibrant part of our school community. They enable us to learn, explore and contemplate the world around us. They hail from all corners of the globe and have a dearth of life experiences. Prior to their arrival at Lick, members of the faculty and staff have been artists, chefs, film-makers, NASA staff members, engineers, master craftsmen, photographers, writers and scientists. Each staff member ostensibly lives his or her life with purpose and integrity – a model which infuses their students with character. The life lessons they impart on a daily basis, both directly and indirectly, assuredly will live on in the memories of students – even if the grammar and algebra do not.









Right: Willy Sison, being fly on the job. Below: Gerald and Willy shaking up things in the foyer. A large component of the redo included a trophy case and cabinet built by our very own Youssou Fall.

CLASS OF 2014 STATISTICS: The freshman class consists of 113 students: 62 girls and 51 boys. 70 (62%) live in SF, 12 (11%) hail from the East Bay, 30 (27%) travel up from the Peninsula, and 2 fabulous freshmen live in Marin County. There is a tie for the most popular zip code: 94112 and 94114 with 9 students residing in each. 55 different middle schools are represented by the Class of 2014 – 60% coming from independent schools, and 40% from public and parochial schools. There are 29 siblings and 29 'singletons,' and 57 students or 50% of the class identify as students-of-color. Many in this class hold dual citizenships between the US and other countries, like: Germany, the UK, the Philippines, Iran, Austria, Denmark, India, Malaysia, Canada, Belgium, and Spain. Many speak multiple languages – such as, Spanish, Hebrew, Mandarin, Cantonese, Italian, Danish, French, German, Hindi, and Persian. The frosh possess many talents, such as knowing how to ride a unicycle, having a photographic memory, being a bee keeper AND a certified SCUBA diver, and winning two 'Junior Project Runway' competitions. They also love to build things, including dollhouses, a chicken coop, potato canons and catapults. They come from around the corner and around the world – with birthplaces such as San Francisco, Berkeley, Los Angeles, New York City, Boston, Hong Kong, Kobe, Japan, Toronto, Canada, Landstuhl, Germany, and Shenzhan, China. They have also lived in Buenos Aires, Argentina, and worked with abused elephants in Thailand. The class of 2014 certainly doesn't have stage fright: Students have held lead roles as Dorothy in the 'Wizard of Oz', Captain Hook and Macbeth, been in a band 'Go Phish,' flown on cables in 'Peter Pan,' participated in San Francisco Opera, Percussion group, participated in Paul Green's School of Rock, and performed in the Nutcracker with the SF Ballet. One is working on an illustrated cookbook, and another works at Oliveto, a four-star restaurant in Oakland. One frosh has something in common with LeBron James - both wears size 15 shoes!

THIS IS EXACTLY HOW I TURNED MY LIFE AROUND FOUR YEARS AGO. I WOKE UP ONE DAY AND DECIDED TO PRETEND TO BE A TIGER. I WALKED ON ALL FOURS AND GROWLED AND ATE A FEW PEOPLE. I STOPPED TALKING TO GIRLS AND QUIT GOING TO WORK. NOW I HAVE A GREAT LIFE ON THE SAVANNAH THAT I AM STILL LOVING.

I WAS BORDERLINE NORMAL WHEN I STARTED THE EXPERIMENT. I DON'T EVEN THINK ABOUT IT NOW. I BECAME WHAT I PRETENDED TO BE. ALSO I CAN TYPE WITH MY PAWS.

This is for my mother, cuz without her I wouldn't be where I am now.

This is for everyone who helped me survive the 4 most difficult years of my life, I love you guys.

I'm takin off into air and don't tell me to come down cuz it took me way too long to get here. I will remain where I please.

Dear Al —
Working with you has been an honor and a delight. Looking back on just the past six years I am astounded at what you have accomplished. It has been a "privilege" to help make your life work" and it is with much anticipation that I look forward to seeing what you will do next in continuing to make the world a better place.
With love and thanks,
Carlin
Dear Al,
Good luck to the coolest guy in the class. I know you'll go far, but don't be a stranger!
Steve
Dear Al,
You've created a school that I love working for all those 19 years.
Thank you for the stimulating environment, your wisdom, and kindness.
Enjoy your retirement!
Zoya

Dear Al,

So many memories I've had. Shared so much over these years. The ups, the downs and with it all a deep friendship.

I'm sorry you were unable (whatever) you were doing and willing from little boys to men — Knowing them in their early groups — what a privilege to have been part of their lives — and having Susan & you participate in an integral part of your parents' giving out what it was like to be on your own space — your life off on their own.

I know our friendship will continue! I wish you and the best good health and much joy to you and Susan.

Love, Jimmie
(aka McPops)

Al,

Thank you for 24 years of leadership at Lick. Your vision, guidance and creativity have made Lick the exciting, vibrant school that it is today. Both students and faculty become L-L-L!

Wishing you and Susan a fantastic new adventure,

Bev

AL – AT LICK AL DEFINES THE DIFFERENCE BETWEEN OPTIMISM (AN ATTITUDE WITHOUT ACTION) AND HOPE (AN ATTITUDE THAT IS ALSO A VERB THAT ASKS FOR ACTION). ACTIVE HOPE IS WHAT WE DO AT LICK — WE WORK FOR A COMPASSIONATE AND HEALTHIER FUTURE. AL ASKS EACH OF US TO BE INTERACTING CITIZENS, TO BE PROBLEM SOLVERS — TO HOPE, TO LEARN, AND TO GO OUT AND GET THINGS DONE!

WHEN I FIRST CAME TO LICK, AL'S CAN-DO CONFIDENCE AND SENSE OF GOOD, CLEAN, HONEST FUN RESULTED IN MANY WONDERFUL COMMUNITY MOMENTS — FOUNDERS' DAY QUIZ SHOWS IN WHICH HE PLAYED THE HILARIOUS, CLUELESS CONTESTANT OR ASSEMBLIES ENLIVENED BY AL'S LIGHTNING FINGERS PLAYING THE WASHBOARD.

A FINAL WORD FROM DR ADAMS

Dear Class of 2011,

I have been mentally scanning the four+ decades since I walked into the world from my college campus to see if there are a few nuggets of wisdom, or insight, that I might pass on to you. I do so recognizing that good fortune accounts for much of what I see in my own story and that, as much as I prefer that things happen by design rather than chance, the opposite is often true. So, what I offer here is not a menu of admonitions, but rather, a short list of hopes I hold for you. They are informed by the many blessings that have come my way over the years.

First, I wish you robust health and hope that you will, in fact, "treat your body as a temple." While it is true that some people are dealt better hands than others with regard to life-long prospects for good health, we know that the choices we make every day are critical to both our immediate and long-term physical and emotional well-being.

Next, I hope that, at the right time and in the right place, you will find your true soul mate who will be a constant, equal and enriching co-pilot throughout your life's journey.

Third, I hope that you deepen your commitment and your capacity to nurture, and to be enlivened by, a rich constellation of family and friends.

Fourth, I hope that you find your calling – where your job and your life's work are one-in-the-same or, in the words of Frederick Buechner, where "your vocation is that place where your deep gladness meets the world's deep hunger."

Fifth, given that a calling requires you to continually give of yourself, I hope that you will also develop avocational interests that will restore you in uplifting ways, bringing a sense of balance and proportion to your life.
Sixth, I wish you wise and generous mentors, who will appear in your life at propitious times.

And last, I hope that, in the end, you, like I, will be able to look back with a sense of fulfillment and gratitude...pleased with the work you have done and nourished by the relationships you have enjoyed.

You are ready – ready to absorb and interpret the world with your heart, as well as your head, and to help shape it with your hands, as well as your head and heart. I wish you a life of consequence, a life of fulfillment and a life of joy.
